Willkie Says Envoys Give Cheap Talk

Says It Would Be Hard for F. D. R. to Keep in Touch With War in Europe

Learning Is Guide

Says Experience Is Not Gauged Alone by Time Process

Aboard Willkie Train en route to Baltimore, Oct. 30 (P)—Wendell L. Willkie declared today that "the American ambassadors to Great Britain and France are back here making cheap political speeches."

Renewing his assertion that only one major American envoy is now in Europe—at Moscow—the Republican presidential nominee told an audience at Clarksburg, W. Va., that President Roosevelt "is supposed to know so much about foreign affairs."

"The Chief Executive," he asserted, "says he has to stay close to Washington and telephone the secretary of state many times a day because of the European crisis. He certainly can't call up his ambassadors because they are not on the job."

Willkie touched on foreign affairs only briefly in his talk devoting most of it to a discussion of the third term idea. He cited Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson, Grover Cleveland, William Jennings Bryan, and Woodrow Wilson as objecting to a third term for any man. And in 1922, he added, Franklin D. Roosevelt noted with approval the words of Woodrow Wilson that there is no indispensable man.

What Possible Conditions
"What possible condition confronts today that you people should abandon your principles for one man?" the nominee asked.

"The dictatorial complex in men's minds always associates itself with a desire to control armies and navies. Surely this year when the free way of life is at test in the world, we do not want to begin to adopt the doctrine of a permanent ruler in these United States."

It is always said that the man in office has more experience than the man who is not in office. But you measure men not by the length of their experience, but by what they have learned from their experiences.

He's Only Candidate
Saying he had been told the region was Democratic, Willkie declared he was the only presidential candidate this year upholding the principles of the Democratic party.

Police Chief Jule Brasseur estimated the crowd which heard Willkie on the Plaza of the Clarksburg railroad station numbered around 25,000.

Speaking briefly at Grafton, W. Va., Willkie reiterated his desire to keep all of labor's social gains and asserted that such laws should be strengthened.

This would be impossible, he argued, if deficit spending and the federal debt continue increasing without any check. That would result in bankruptcy, he said. Then comes a dictator, and one of the first things a dictator does is to tell laboring men, "You cannot organize."

He added that "when I am in Washington I want to look more toward the mid-continent than always across the seas."

Wendell L. Willkie returned east today with the charge that a third term would endanger preparedness, and that "democracy itself may be lost."

Defense to Be Discussed
The Republican presidential nominee is expected by associates to devote a large part of his final campaign speeches to defense issues, which he emphasized last night in two addresses at Charleston, W. Va.

In the first, delivered to a cheering crowd which jammed the city auditorium, Willkie declared that the President in recent years had "over-ruled the experts" and failed to ask for sufficient funds to build up the army and navy.

In his second Charleston speech, Willkie added a few paragraphs to criticize the administration for having an ambassador on the job in only one major European capital, Moscow.

"Some of these ambassadors," he said, "are home taking active part in a partisan political campaign, and of course that is all with the approval of the third term candidate."

As president, he asserted, he himself would select for those positions.

Singled Out by Uncle Sam

Among young men of the Kingston area who are designated as "drafted" by virtue of yesterday's lottery are the six shown above. They are, top left to right, Gilbert Schline, 97 Shufeldt street, whose number was the second, 8996-7192, the second number drawn; James Becker, 333 Clinton avenue, whose number was the third, 8998-1033; Walter B. Van Demark, 233 West Chestnut street, whose number came out fourth, 9000-6771; the lower three are Raymond C. Witt, 50 Tompkins street; Herbert M. Levitas, 36 West Chester street; and Francis Sinnott, Saugerties, employed in this city.

War Department Fire Blamed Upon Short Circuit by Stimson

Driving Candidates Must Take Oral Test for Licenses

One Hundred Questions Listed in Manual Now to Be Had at Motor Vehicle Bureau

An oral test will be required of all persons applying for driving licenses on and after November 1, Motor Vehicle Inspector Frank Prior, who is assigned to the Ulster County Motor Vehicle Bureau, said today.

This oral test will consist of five questions taken from a list of 100 questions, which will be found in the drivers manual distributed to those applying for licenses at the local motor bureau.

All persons now driving on learners' permits issued since October 1, who intend to take their road test on or after November 1, must be prepared to answer the questions which will be asked from the drivers' manual.

This booklet is free and every applicant for a permit should ask the bureau to furnish him with a copy so he can study the 100 questions, to which the answers will also be found in the booklet.

The examining inspector selects any five questions from the list he desires to ask the applicant.

Mr. Prior said that provisions have been made by the New York State Motor Vehicle Bureau at Albany to supply these manuals to all issuing offices. In some cases, he said, applicants have not received their manuals, and are therefore advised to obtain one at the local office.

The booklet, he said, contains much valuable information for the beginner, part of its contents being proper methods of operating a motor vehicle, including rules of the road, highway markings, hand signal diagrams and explanations, diagrams of proper turns, and the meaning of the different shaped signs used by the state highway system.

Contrary to some reports, said Mr. Prior, this is not a written test but will be given orally by the inspector in conjunction with the regular road test.

Moscow, Oct. 30 (P)—A German economic mission headed by Karl Schnurre, arrived today.

Fierce Fire in Federal Building Is Cause of Probe to Study Sabotage Angle

Washington, Oct. 30 (P)—Fire swept through a newly-built fourth floor of the war department-munitions building early today and almost at once a special army board set to work to determine whether an accident, carelessness or a saboteur was responsible.

Valuable documents, some of them secret, were housed in the Constitution avenue building damaged by a roaring fire that broke out at about 4 a. m.

Secretary Stimson was quoted as saying he believed a short circuit in the electrical wiring, or a cigarette, was to blame. There was no public mention of sabotage from official quarters.

Intelligence officers and fire marshals began an investigation of the cause, as soon as the massed fire equipment of the District of Columbia brought the flames under control in a struggle lasting more than an hour.

While the investigation went on, firemen already tired from their efforts at the war department's building—a structure built in World War days as a "temporary" building—were called to another blaze at the Lewis Hotel training school on Washington Circle. At this fire, which was confined mostly to the basement, 15 firemen were overcome by escaping gas. Four were hospitalized.

No Official Statement
There was no official statement as to the importance of documents destroyed or damaged. However, one building guard, declared the partially-burned wing was "the most important" part of the department.

Major Edward French, in command of the Message Center in the building and the first officer to reach the scene, plunged into the smoke-filled entrance in an effort to save the papers.

He was driven out by smoke and heat. Firemen were successful in their efforts to keep actual flames from the Message Center, but it was feared that smoke and water had taken their toll.

General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, took charge half an hour after the alarm had sounded. About 200 machine gun troops were summoned from Fort Myer and some 400 infantrymen from the Arlington cantonment.

Construction described by fire.

Kennedy Declares For President as Man of Experience

Says U. S. Entry Into War Would Harm Britain Due to Handicaps in Giving Help

New York, Oct. 30 (P)—Fresh from bomb-battered England, Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy urged last night the re-election of President Roosevelt because "events move so quickly—the man of experience is our man of the hour."

The envoy took occasion on a $20,000 nation-wide broadcast, sponsored by Mrs. Kennedy and their nine children, to declare flatly that "from the day I went to the court of St. James until this minute I have never given to one single individual in the world any hope whatsoever that at any stage or under any conditions could the United States be drawn into the war."

He asserted that statements saying President Roosevelt was leading America into war were "false," as the President has said, and added that "the truth of the matter is that there is no more harmful step which could be taken from the viewpoint of Great Britain than our declaration of war."

Cites Handicap
To declare war, he continued, would handicap efforts to give aid to Great Britain. The problems of transporting an army to England alone would be "staggering."

"To suggest, yes, I say even to suggest, that our boys will soon be on transports" "is completely absurd," he said.

"If President Roosevelt were as wicked as his opponents charge, which is not, and even if he had undisclosed commitments, which he has not, the facts are against our participation in this war."

Kennedy lauded the President for speedy work toward preparedness and spoke of the third term opposition as "insignificant by comparison" with the "gigantic issues" facing the nation.

He recalled that about a year ago he referred to the problems facing the country and said a newcomer "would need two years of training before he could govern adequately."

"But two years will be too late."

Kingston Board Gives Out 160 More Names; 'Junior Drawing' Held

U. S. Lottery Winds Up With Two Numbers More Than It Had Planned Upon

Washington, Oct. 30 (P)—The grand conscription lottery, which held marching orders for some 5,000,000 young Americans, finished in an unlooked-for flurry this morning with 6 numbers missing, but finally wound up officially with 2 numbers more than it should have had.

In the rainy dawn after 17 hours and 31 minutes of drawing from the big draft bowl, a last solitary blue capsule was picked up from the glass bottom by Brigadier General Lewis B. Hershey, assistant selective service director. It was 5:47 a. m. (E.S.T.)

That capsule should have been the 9,000th—the number of capsules originally believed placed in the bowl before the drawing opened at 12:18 p. m. yesterday.

Instead it proved to be the 8,994th. Despite the most elaborate precautions, 6 number-bearing blue capsules were missing. Selective service officials immediately instituted a check to track down the omitted numbers. Manual record kept throughout the marathon drawing confirmed the number of missing numbers as 6. The master list disagreed, however, showing 8 unaccounted for.

To make sure that every number missing from the master list would be drawn, General Hershey had a special "junior drawing" of those 8 numbers—a brief sweepstakes witnessed by a handful and over in 5 minutes.

The "junior draw" was held with the following results:
No. 8995-6542
8996-7192
8997-7635
8998-1033
8999-5108
9000-6771
9001-1835
9002-7839.

The official last number drawn accordingly was the 9,002nd—number 7839.

The "junior drawing" epilogue made the total elapsed time for the actual drawing 17 hours and 36 minutes, a much slower performance than the first World War draft in 1917 when 10,500 numbers were picked in 16 hours and 29 minutes.

In the event the dubious two among the eight "missing" numbers should turn up earlier in the drawing lists, the result of the "junior draw" will be disregarded as far as they are concerned. No clues were immediately discovered as to how the missing numbers vanished from the bowl.

After the supplementary lottery, officials found that in it two serial numbers which had previously been given order numbers had been called. These serial numbers—1033 and 6771—were drawn in order numbers of 8998 and 9000, but as soon as the duplication had been discovered, it was ruled that they would revert to their previously assigned order numbers.

Issues Statement
Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, Selective Service director, who saw the lottery through from the drawing of the first number—158—to the scheduled end, issued this statement at the finish:

"Today we have witnessed an unprecedented event in our peace-time history, the developments of an orderly routine for the calling out of a vast peace-time army."

"Large military establishments have been avoided since the first colonies were established in this country, but it has been demonstrated in the last few hours that when necessity arises every man, every woman is willing to forego all precedent."

As the store of bright blue, number-laden capsules dwindled in the big glass aquarium which first saw duty in the 1917 lottery, official and unofficial calculations were that holders of numbers drawn after the first 1,500 or 2,000 taken from the bowl would not be summoned before draft boards the first year.

The capital slept while the drawing went ahead all night in stately, brightly lighted departmental auditorium—the only spot of brilliance in the row of cold and darkened federal buildings along Constitution avenue.

Many hours before the flags and drums, the dignitaries and the crowds had departed. Only the Selective Service officials and a small group of others kept the long watch in the all-but-deserted hall where the drawing of the first

Not So Unlucky

No. 13 Took Its Time

Washington, Oct. 30 (P)—May be 13 isn't so unlucky, after all.

It didn't emerge from the selective service lottery bowl until shortly before 9 o'clock last night and the 3519th number drawn.

Registrants who were assigned some of the other numbers long favored by the superstitious likewise found they were drawn far down on the list of priority in which men may be considered for military service.

No. 7 was the 6078th number drawn. No. 11 was 5683D in order and 99 was 5555th.

Serial number 1 was drawn from the bowl nearly eight and a half hours after the lottery began to become Order Number 3479.

No. 9000, the highest number in the bowl, came out five and a half hours later as Order Number 6553.

Roosevelt Begins New England Drive For Electoral Votes

Tells New Haven Crowd Conscription Has Same Purpose as Those With Umbrellas

Enroute with President Roosevelt to Boston, Oct. 30 (P)—President Roosevelt started a political incursion into New England today by telling a drenched crowd at the New Haven, Conn., station that men were being trained for military service for "just the same reason that you've got umbrellas up today so as not to get wet."

With all the production of war equipment and supplies, in which Connecticut is doing her bit, the President said it still was necessary to have manpower, even though there was no expectation of using it.

"Incidentally," he added, "I think you realize that all this talk about sending American boys to Europe, well, it does not conform with either the facts of the past or the facts of the future."

He said it was a "pity" that fear had been injected into the campaign—"fears about things that don't exist."

"What a pity it is," Mr. Roosevelt added, "the only thing we have to fear in America is fear itself."

Address Tonight
Tonight he makes a political address in the Boston Garden.

After picking up a carload of politicians and officials at New Haven, the special rolled on toward Hartford, slowing down through Wallingford, to let the President wave at a crowd at the depot and pausing briefly at Meriden.

Local Board Receives Names of Those Who Signed Outside; More May Come

Kingston's selective service board this morning announced it had received the registration cards of 160 men of this city who had registered in other draft districts. These cards were forwarded to the local board from Albany. Roland Fuller, clerk of the local board, said it would not be surprising if a further list of names would be received from Albany later.

The local board is awaiting the master code list from Washington before it can prepare its own list showing the order in which local boys will be called before the board for examination. This master code list is not expected for several days yet.

When the master code list of numbers is received and the local board has compiled its list from it, the men will be forwarded questionnaires from the local board which the draftee will have to fill out and return to the local board within five days after receiving.

With the receipt of 161 additional names the draft numbers in the Kingston board now runs from No. 1 to 3105 inclusive.

The local board today released the names and numbers of the 161 additional men in the city draft:

2945 Joseph Mulligan, 34 Pine St.
2946 Fred Burnett, 15 Elmendorf
2947 Edward J. Smith, 150 B'way
2948 Virgil Crisman, 43 Washington Ave.
2949 Edward Rhymer, 38 Shufeldt
2950 James McKenna, 13 Burgevin
2951 James Hines, 60 Hooker St.
2952 Vincent Bradley, 33 Jarrold
2953 Allen Hoy, 119 First Ave.
2954 Sherwood Davis, 238 Albany
2955 Herbert F. Lown, 117 Downs
2956 Fred J. Albrecht, 35 Grove
2957 Donald Smith, 63 O'Neill St.
2958 Allan MacCollam, 134 Wrentham St.
2959 Benedict Buboltz, 136 Third
2960 Robert Hayes, 11 Hanratty
2961 Arthur Dawe, 267 Hasbrouck

Policeman Says He Is Getting on Well

Colored Democrats Tell F.D.R. Early's Act Is to Cost Him Votes

New York, Oct. 30 (P)—James Sloan, negro policeman who was injured in a scuffle outside of President Roosevelt's special train here Monday night, said today he was "getting along all right."

He declined to say whether he planned to take any action against Stephen Early, secretary to the President, who said he "gave the knee" to one of several policemen who tried to prevent him from boarding the train.

Capt. Walter T. Harding in charge of the police investigation of the affair, said his inquiry would not be completed for several days. Sloan was confined to his home.

Rome Radio Says Italo Army Gains

Roosevelt to Make New Pronouncement Tonight on Aid to Britain and Her Allies

Warns Newsmen

F. D. R. Tells Journalists to Be Cautious; Anglo Mines Laid

(By The Associated Press)
A Rome broadcast asserted today that Italian troops had smashed 40 miles into Greece, capturing the town of St. Nicholas but Athens reported that reinforced Greek fighters were holding an unbroken front under heavy artillery fire.

The Italian attacks, supported by planes and mortar guns, were said to be steadily intensifying.

Mussolini's high command, with unusual brevity, merely reported: "Our troops have continued the advance into Greek territory, overcoming resistance of the enemy's rearguard."

By contrast with this 15-word report on the war with Greece, the Italian high command devoted 53 words to the Fascist campaign in Africa, noting mostly indecisive actions about clay-bat outposts in the African desert.

To Announce Step
Meanwhile, President Roosevelt's secretary said the President probably would announce a major step tonight to increase aid for Britain and her allies.

The secretary warned newsmen not to "go overboard" on the oft-mentioned subject of releasing American "flying fortresses" to the British. It was indicated that the new step might allow Britain a priority on airplane contracts.

Authoritative Fascist quarters in Rome acknowledged the Greeks were resisting stubbornly, but they denied that troops of the little Aegean kingdom had driven a counter-thrust into Albania, the starting point of the Italian invasion Monday.

These quarters said Mussolini's legions were advancing deeper into Greece without encountering "serious military difficulties."

Great Britain stepped up aid to her new ally, the London admiral announced, by mining approaches to key ports on the Greek Coast, notably in the gulf of Aegina which guards Piraeus, the port of Athens.

Other mine fields were sown in the gulfs of Patras and Corinth and in the waters lying north of Crete along the east coast of the Peloponnese.

British military circles denied reports that British troops have already landed on the Grecian islands of Corfu and Crete, following a broadcast of Rome dispatches saying Italian troops had also landed at Corfu and were fighting the British.

Amid sparse reports of actual fighting, evidently trimmed by a heavy censorship on both sides, Athens reported that the Italians were striking hard into the western sector of Greece's defenses in a drive apparently aimed at Ioannina (Jannina) some 30 miles from the Greek-Albanian frontier.

'Situation Unchanged'
The Greek high command said briefly that "the situation remains unchanged" along the upper half of the battlefield, in western Macedonia, where Alexander the Great started his march to the conquest of ancient Persia.

Neutral military sources in Athens said the Greek advance guards were slowly retiring to the main defense sectors of the Metaxas line in keeping with a preconceived plan. There, it was expected, the Greeks would make their "do or die" stand.

While Europe's chancelleries anxiously awaited some definite word from Moscow on Russia's intentions in the Balkan struggle, the Soviet army newspaper "Red Star" declared the British fleet was master of the eastern Mediterranean and forecast a long, hard battle between the Greek-British allies and Italy.

As Britain moved to aid Greece, semi-official quarters in Berlin intimated Turkey soon may receive an ultimatum similar to that which preceded Italy's invasion of Greece.

Turkey followed the conflict closely, but there still was no sign that she planned to abandon her neutrality.

There were indications that the Italian drive into Greece was only the forerunner of a large scale Mediterranean campaign, involving acceleration of the Fascist drive eastward into Egypt from

Wadlin, Ideal Man to Represent Taxpayers

JOHN F. WADLIN

The Republican party in seeking a nominee for the very important office of Member of Assembly to succeed Hon. J. Edward Conway, who has served this Assembly District so successfully, sought a man with experience in county affairs and a man who understood public problems. In nominating John F. Wadlin of Highland the Republican party has selected a man whose legal training and civic activities qualifies him for this important job of representing Ulster county in the Assembly.

Few men in Ulster county through past experience and training can point to such splendid qualifications as can John F. Wadlin. In town and county affairs Mr. Wadlin has always been active and the experience gained in the

Dog in Deep Pit Offered Connelly Village Problem

A fox terrier, who got himself in a predicament, had all Connelly agog with excitement and considerable concern as to how to effect his rescue earlier this week, but he is back home and apparently happy now after an ordeal which would have been no fun for any dog.

Attracted by a constant howling in the neighborhood Sunday Warren Rowe and Norbert Scherer, two young men of Connelly, traced direction of the sound. They came to the brink of a deserted kiln on the hill in Connelly just west of the village and looking down 30 feet to its bottom, saw the animal trapped by the steep rise of its confines.

Young Roe with the aid of his friend and others in the neighborhood attempted to bring the dog from the pit by descending on a rope, but as he drew near, the animal apparently frightened, threatened to bite his rescuer.

After discovery that the rope idea was virtually impossible, the two boys and others in the village attempted to decide on ways and means of saving the dog for its owners, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chambers of Sleightsburgh.

Many who visited the spot saw the problems of the rescuing task and finally more assistance was sought.

The dog had been reported missing since Thursday, and it is believed he had been in the pit since that time. A 30-foot ladder was brought to the scene and the dog was taken from the pit to its waiting owners where there was a happy re-union and all Connelly felt more at ease with the solution of the problem.

Subway Worker Killed, One Hurt

Pair Is Crushed Between Passing Express Train

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—One independent subway worker was killed and another critically injured today when they were crushed between a passing express train and a projecting block signal.

In some manner, the impact of the men's bodies changed the block signal to danger position, cut off the power and stopped the train at 200th Street, the Bronx. When the motorman of the express investigated the power stoppage, he found the men—his first intimation of the accident.

William M. Hart, 42, was dead; and Patrick Kelly, 40, was seriously hurt. Officials said the men's duties should not have taken them on the right of way.

Fairlawn Dealers Hold 6th Annual Banquet in City

Seven counties were represented last evening at the sixth annual banquet of Fairlawn Stores Association of the Kingston Division at the Governor Clinton Hotel where 267 men and women met for their annual evening of pleasure.

Sponsored by Everett & Treadwell Co. wholesale grocers of this city, there was a turkey dinner served followed by entertainment and dancing to the music of Paul Zucca's orchestra. The banquet last evening was the largest of the six annual affairs held and the guests were welcomed by Cornelius S. Treadwell, president of the firm.

Prior to the entertainment a short business session was held when the report of the nominating committee was received and officers for the ensuing year elected unanimously. Fred Osterhout of Shandaken, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the list of officers and George Smith of Pine Hill seconded the nominations and moved for the approval of the committee's report. Unanimously elected were:

Fred Mower, Woodstock, president; A. L. Ransom, Malden, vice-president; Egbert Maxwell, Kingston, assistant treasurer. Fred W. Smith, retiring president, was given a vote of thanks for his services during the past year.

Named on the Board of Control for the year 1941 with the officers are: D. J. Boice of Olive Bridge, Hubert Brink of Lake Katrine, Paul Caban of Goldrick's Landing, Forrest Craft of East Park, John A. DeGasperis of Kingston, Donald Haskins of Rhinebeck, E. Manos of Kingston, W. H. Niles of Kingston, F. S. Osterhout of Shandaken, Louis Perry of Kingston, Fred J. Snyder of Saugerties, Frank Soranno of East Kingston and Clarence Ostrander of West Hurley.

Following the serving of a turkey dinner and the election of officers Fred Van Deusen, Kingston's magician extraordinary acted as master of ceremonies and beside mystifying the people with some of his own tricks of magic he presented Gus and Flash, a novelty juggler with his fox terrier dog; Countess Sonia and her piano accordion and Frank Mulane, popular monologist and ballad singer who for over thirty years has been one of the stage's great entertainers.

Throughout the evening Paul Zucca led the audience in community singing and supplied the music for dancing. Unlike previous years there were no speeches.

Legion Auxiliary Groups Have Meetings Scheduled

The Ulster County Committee of the American Legion Auxiliary will hold its next meeting in Highland on Monday evening, November 4, at the Grange Hall.

Miss Maude Hafley, third district chairman, is expected to be present.

Schirick Dismisses Ligotino's Action

Supreme Court Justice Say Ligotino Failed to Prove Case Against Erie

After testimony had been concluded in the negligence action brought by Calogero Ligotino of Highland against Erie Railroad Co., Justice Harry E. Schirick granted a motion of defendant to dismiss the complaint on the grounds the plaintiff had failed to prove a case. Mr. Ligotino sought to recover for damage to his Dodge truck which was struck at the Harriman station back in 1934, claiming that the warning of the approach of a train had not been given in sufficient time for him to stop his truck. He alleged that a flagman came out and waved a red lantern for him to stop just as he was approaching the crossing and that in the sudden stop he stalled his truck and it was struck by the train when he was unable to start it.

Mr. Ligotino and his son escaped injury by jumping from the truck. He claimed the flasher lights were not working as he approached the crossing but his son testified they were flashing after the crash and after his truck was partly knocked down the flasher post.

Once before tried the jury brought in a verdict of $500 but it was set aside by the court and a new trial ordered.

Col. Booth to Visit Day Nursery; Will Launch Campaign

Col. Charles Brandon Booth, noted lecturer and national field secretary of the Volunteers of America, will visit Kingston on Thursday, Friday and Sunday.

In the interests of the local branch of the organization Colonel Booth's visit will launch the annual campaign for funds by this organization. On Thursday Colonel Booth is scheduled to speak in the high school and at the Kiwanis Club and also at a meeting of the charter members of the Kingston Day Nursery Association. At this meeting the Hon. G. D. B. Hasbrouck will preside.

On Sunday evening at 7:30 Colonel Booth will address a union service in the Fair Street Reformed Church, presided over by Dr. F. B. Seeley. The public is invited to attend the Sunday night service.

Condition Fair

Frank DuBois, 20, a negro, who the police say attempted suicide last Saturday night by shooting himself with a .22 calibre rifle in his room in his home, 126 North Front street, is reported in fair condition at the Benedictine Hospital where he was removed for treatment. In the report of the shooting in Monday's paper it was erroneously stated that the youth lived at 114½ North Front street.

Yehudi!

Richmond, Va. (AP)—In the opening football game of the season, Head Coach Watt Eugene of Thomas Jefferson high school, substituted freely. After one wholesale substitution, the quarterback called for a play over left tackle. It gained seven yards. Other members of the squad began looking for the tackle to congratulate him on opening a big hole. There wasn't any left tackle. The play was run with only ten men in the Thomas Jefferson lineup.

Brooks Is Granted $172 Verdict for Damages to Auto

Walter H. Brooks of Wawarsing was awarded $172.15 for damages to his Chevrolet car which was damaged on May 21, 1939, when struck by a Ford car of Lars Larsen on route 55 near the McDowell Garage at Lackawack. The case had been on the day calendar since the opening of the term and had not been answered by the defendant. An inquest was taken Tuesday afternoon before Justice Schirick without a jury.

Mr. Brooks testified he was proceeding along the Lackawack road one evening when the Larsen car came over to the left of the road and struck the Brooks car in which Mr. and Mrs. Brooks and friends were riding. Mr. Brooks told the court that there were four people riding in the seat of the Larsen Ford coupe and that after the crash someone called the Troopers but Larsen left the scene of the crash and later was taken before Justice Melvin Schoonmaker on a charge of having left the scene of the crash in violation of the law. The Brooks car was damaged on its left side. Justice Schirick directed the verdict after testimony as to the cost of fixing the damage had been given.

Purse Snatchers Operate in City; Two Are Victims

Two sneak thieves traveling about Kingston in an old grey coupe early Tuesday evening snatched pocketbooks from the hands of Mrs. William DeKoskie of 15 East Union street and Miss Grace Wagar of 53 Clinton avenue, according to reports made to the police department.

Miss Wagar was standing in front of the county clerk's office shortly after 8 o'clock when a man approached her from behind and with one hand clasped over his face in an effort to disguise himself, he seized the pocketbook from her hand and ran to the waiting automobile and the two men then drove off down Fair street.

It was shortly after 9 o'clock while Mrs. DeKoskie was standing at Broadway and Stuyvesant street when the two men carried out the same procedure one of them snatching her pocketbook and running to the car in which the driver was sitting with the engine running. The car drove down Chambers street.

Both men were described as young.

Winter Program Opens This Week For City's Youth

This week will mark the opening of winter activities at two indoor centers for the Department of Recreation when the Downtown Youth Center at 97 Broadway and the Saturday program of indoor recreational activities at the Municipal Auditorium are set under way.

Supervised recreation will begin at the Downtown Center on Friday evening, November 1, and the Municipal Auditorium program will be opened Saturday, November 2. Activities for girls at the Roundout Hobby House will commence during the early part of next week.

The Municipal Auditorium weekly program of activities which is conducted each Saturday from November through May, is one of the most popular features of the local winter recreation program for boys. Nearly 500 different boys take advantage of play opportunities at the mid-town building each Saturday it is open.

Beginning the fifth year of activities at the auditorium this coming Saturday, the Department of Recreation is preparing a complete schedule of activities for boys of all ages. Included among the various activities at this center are basketball, volleyball, group games, relay games, ping pong, and other table games.

These activities are all supervised on the main floor of the building, the active games taking place on the basketball floor, while table games and reading facilities are provided in the dining room.

The rifle range at the Auditorium is converted into a gymnasium Saturdays, when tumbling, boxing, wrestling, dart baseball and similar activities are carried on in that section of the building.

Checking facilities are provided for all boys and sneakers are loaned to those who do not bring their own.

Plans for the organization of the Junior City Basketball league are progressing, and the league will play Saturday afternoon between 1 and 4 o'clock. This league will be open to all boys under 18 years of age. A special basketball league for younger boys will be conducted at the Auditorium during the morning period, and will be open to various boys teams.

Ping pong tournaments and checker championships are listed among the special features of the game room during the first month, and will be open to all boys who wish to take part. The building will be open from 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. continuously each Saturday.

Verdict Is Given
In Death by Fire
Near Alligerville

That the fragments of bone found Tuesday afternoon at the site of the home of Milton Makowsky at Alligerville, by Troopers Metzger and Baker of the B. C. I., were human bones, was confirmed by Dr. J. S. Taylor, director of the Kingston Laboratory, it was announced today.

The fragments consisted of a small portion of the skull and smaller bones, calcined by the fire which destroyed the Makowsky house Saturday evening.

Trooper Metzger said this morning that there appears to be little doubt that they are the remains of Allen Walker, farmhand, who has not been seen since the afternoon of the fire. A pocket watch and a medal found near the bones have been identified by Mr. Makowsky as articles formerly worn by Walker.

Coroner Jesse McHugh of Wallkill, called yesterday by Trooper Metzger, accepted the proofs and gave a verdict to the effect that Walker had met an accidental death from fire.

Walker occupied a corner room in the Makowsky farmhouse and it was in the neighborhood of this room that fire was first discovered, about 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, by Philip Steinman, a neighbor.

Efforts to locate surviving relatives of Walker have been unavailing so far, although it is understood that he has a wife and daughter living. When he registered at the Lewis Employment Agency on Fourth street, New York, he gave 400 Eighth avenue as a former address.

New York city police department reports that this is the address of a warehouse. He also gave 990 College avenue, Bronx, as a former business address, and a check is being made on that for possible information.

War department workers reporting for work found streets still blocked by fire engines, the entrances cluttered with fire hoses and corridors filled with water.

All war department officials available refused to comment on the fire, but it appeared to have started on the top of the three-story wing.

Gen. Jose Varela, Spanish minister of war, was expected to take off by plane from Seville today en route to Spanish Africa and the Canary Islands on a mission linked to the recent conversations between Spain's chief of state, Generalissimo Francisco Franco and Adolf Hitler.

Nazis Strike at England

German air raiders continued to strike at England during the night, but London had long intervals of quiet before the assaults finally tapered off before dawn.

The British air ministry reported that despite adverse weather the royal air force again had "attacked a number of targets in Germany, including some in the Berlin area" overnight. The Nazis acknowledged British raiders had flown over northern Germany, but said none had reached Berlin.

Nazis in Berlin asserted without amplification that German U-boats had torn a "disastrous hole" in British naval forces, and Hitler's high command said a German warship operating "overseas" had sunk three armed "enemy merchantships" totalling 18,400 tons.

The London air ministry said RAF warplanes, flying through "thick mist and severe icing conditions," bombed Berlin, Hamburg, Sterkrade, Magdeburg, Bremen, Wilhelmshaven, Den Helder, Ymuiden, Flushing and Ostend.

German raiders, after subjecting London's millions to their 53rd consecutive nightly assault, renewed the attack shortly before noon, bombing London and the midlands.

A British communique said that the German night raiders machine-gunned streets at several points and that salvos of incendiary bombs started "many fires" in two midland towns.

"In yesterday's air battles, 27 enemy aircraft were destroyed," the communique said. "Our losses were seven fighter aircraft and only two pilots."

Suit to Recover Wallkill Firm's Assets Is Opened

(Special to the Freeman)

New York, Oct. 29.—A New York private banking and factoring firm, named defendant in a suit filed in Federal District Court on October 14, by Charles Tolleris, Stanley A. Katcher and Martin F. Comeau, as trustees in bankruptcy of Wallkill Manufacturing Company, entered an answer and counterclaim today to charges of illegal appropriation of the bankrupt company's assets.

Disputing the plaintiffs' assertion that assignments of $40,773 in merchandise and accounts receivable of the company to H. M. Hubshman and Brother of this city, defendants was in violation of the Bankruptcy Act, the answer states that a factoring contract, signed in July, 1936, gave the New York firm a continuing general lien on all goods and accounts receivable.

An independent defense in the answer states that credit of $51,068 should be allowed the defendant if any judgement is awarded the trustees, as the Hubshman house is still unsatisfied creditor in that amount, for loans made to the bankrupt company without security.

In a counter claim the defendants ask judgment for $50,000 which is said to have remained unrecovered by the lien when the trustees took over the business.

Halloween Party Program Arranged Band, Drum Corps Units Will Be in Parade

Children from every section of the city will come together tomorrow evening to join in the fourth annual Community Halloween Celebration being sponsored by the Department of Recreation.

With two junior drum corps and a junior band all set to participate in the evening's activities, this year's program is lining up as an all-youth event. The Troop 12 Boy Scout Fife and Drum Corps, the American Legion Junior Drum Corps, and the American Legion Junior Band will all take active part in tomorrow's celebration.

There will be three distinct features in the evening's activities, starting with two parades from opposite sections of the city at 7:30 p. m. All downtown children will be urged to join behind the American Legion Junior Drum Corps for the parade to the Municipal Auditorium. Uptown children will have an opportunity to parade behind the Troop 12 Fife and Drum Corps.

The downtown parade will start from McEntee street and Broadway, while paraders from the uptown section will begin at Academy Green. Both groups will leave at exactly 7:30 o'clock.

A special program of activities is listed for the Municipal Auditorium, and will get under way at 8 o'clock. A band concert by the American Legion Junior Band, Community singing, and other pre-arranged features will make up the second portion of the evening's program.

Closing entertainment feature of the celebration will be seven reels of 16-mm. pictures which is always a popular portion of any entertainment program.

The Community Halloween Celebration is not designed for children alone, but adults, parents particularly, are urged to come out and join in the evening's fun. Special seats at the Auditorium will be set aside for the older folks so that they can sit back and enjoy the festivities.

Colored Democrats Wire F. D. R.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Oct. 30.—The Colored Democratic Club of Westchester today wired President Roosevelt that the attack by his secretary, Stephen Early, on a New York city negro policeman would cost him many thousands of votes.

The telegram, signed by Randel Toliver, president, said: "We regret the attack by your secretary, Stephen Early, on Patrolman James Sloane of New York city. We regret that the action will cost you many thousands of votes in the coming election."

West Park Church Is Now Free of Debt, Says Pastor

The rector of the Church of the Ascension, West Park, announced to his congregation Sunday morning that the parish, for the first time in 13 years, is entirely free from debt.

Bishop Manning, in a letter to the pastor, congratulated the congregation upon this record of debt-clearance. In 1935 the total indebtedness of the 98-year old Church amounted to more than $5,200. Since then the decrease has been a steady one. After the 11th annual flower show, held on September 5 of this year, all debts were paid save a mortgage of $600 still remaining on the Parish House.

Recently, the Rector was able to announce that a gift of $600 was made to the parish, thereby clearing it entirely of financial obligations.

In the midst of the difficult effort of trying to wipe out its debt, the parish was also able to purchase a new Hammond Electric Organ, re-shingle the steeple of the Church, and redecorate all of its buildings except the Parish House, which will be painted this fall.

This was done despite the fact that three years ago the Vestry decided to do away with card parties, church suppers, and all other money-raising schemes so familiar to church members. Now, apart from the annual flower show, which has become somewhat of an institution in the county, the parish is supported entirely by the income from its modest endowment and the weekly pledges of the congregation.

DR. F. M. EDWARDS' DISCOVERY FOR CONSTIPATION

Benefits Nation of Sufferers!

COLUMBUS, OHIO: For over 20 years Dr. F. M. Edwards (widely known physician) successfully treated scores of patients for constipation and the headaches, lack of energy and mental dullness which often result.

This wise Doctor knew liver bile must flow freely every day into your intestines or fatty foods can't be properly digested and you may become constipated. So he kept this in mind when he perfected his famous Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Olive Tablets, being purely vegetable, are wonderful, yet they assure gentle, thorough bowel movements and ALSO help stimulate bile flow. Test their goodness TONIGHT! 15¢, 30¢, 60¢.

den, where another throng was on hand.

To the dripping audience at New Haven, the President remarked:

"It is very good of you to come out on this very rainy day and I appreciate it."

"I am particularly happy to be here today because yesterday I wasn't sure that I could come. I have had, as you know, certain responsibilities that go with the office and within the past few days, we are afraid, another conflict has broken out."

"There have been a great many conflicts that have broken out so far, but I notice that in all of them the United States has managed to keep clear and not get into war."

Yesterday, he went on, there was a very impressive ceremony in Washington—the drawing of the draft numbers.

"As you and I know, with this great armament program on the mechanical side—the building of all of these munitions in which Connecticut is taking her full part—with all that, we have to have trained people to handle them in case of emergency," the President declared. "And so we have started to train more men—not that we expect to have to use them."

"It is just for the same reason that you have got umbrellas up today—as so not to get wet."

"The only thing we have to fear in America is fear itself. If we had had fear in the past seven years we would not have passed the great measures of social justice for the workers of the land, measures that are now on the statute books, measures which the working people in Connecticut appreciate because they helped them in their labor and in their homes," the Chief Executive asserted.

After idling through Berlin and waving to another crowd Mr. Roosevelt and his party moved into Hartford for an inspection of plants of the United Aircraft Corporation since that involved national defense, Connecticut's Republican governor, Raymond E. Baldwin, had arranged to meet the President at Hartford, together with additional Democratic politicians.

The Democrats included Herman Kopplemann, Lucian Maciora, William Fitzgerald and Leroy Dowd, candidates for Congress; and Daniel Finn, Hartford Democratic chairman, and Thomas Shay, Labor Bureau director.

Masons Will Hold District Meeting

Session Will Be Largest Held in Valley Area

Members of the Masonic Lodges in Ulster and five neighboring counties are looking forward to what is announced as "the greatest Masonic gathering ever held in the Hudson Valley." The occasion will be an official visit by Most Worshipful Henry C. Turner, Grand Master of Masons of the State of New York, to the districts comprising the counties of Columbia, Dutchess, Ulster, Greene, Orange and Rockland. The meeting will be held in Poughkeepsie and the visit is being sponsored jointly by the district deputies of the four districts and by the past masters of the first Columbia-Dutchess district. Friday, November 8, has been set as the date of the meeting. There will be a testimonial dinner to the grand master, to be held at the Nelson House at 6:15 o'clock, with a brief address and program. Reservations for the dinner must be made with secretaries of local lodges before November 5. At 8 p. m. the official visit by the grand master and his staff will be held at the Masonic Temple, Poughkeepsie. There will be addresses, exercises and music. Present plans are to run two buses from Masonic Temple, Kingston, to accommodate members of Kingston Lodge No. 10 and Roundout Lodge No. 343 who may desire to make the trip.

Hull Objects

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Secretary Hull said today that reports that he might remain as secretary of state if Wendell L. Willkie were elected president smacked of politics and met with his strong disapproval. The secretary of state told his press conference in response to a question that he had no knowledge of the origin of the reports. He said he most strongly disapproved of their circulation over the country.

Strength in Steel Shares Featured Market Tuesday

Strength in steel shares featured the market Tuesday and there was a firmer tone generally, averages showing net gains that approached Monday's declines. In the Dow-Jones list industrials closed a little below the best level of the day, but with a net gain of .42 point, to 132.19. The rails were up .06, to 28.52 and utilities advanced .16, to 22.49. Volume was 586,065 compared with 470,640 Monday.

U. S. Steel led the most active list and was up 1/4 for the day in turnover of 19,500 shares and Republic Steel, third, was up an eighth. Best gainers on the list were Amer. Rolling Mill and Briggs Mfg., each moving ahead a point.

Announcement of earnings of U. S. Steel, which came after the close of the market, showed net for the third quarter of $33,103,067, best for any period since the quarter ended June 30, 1937, and the best third quarter since 1929, when earnings totaled $51,575,350. Figures for the first nine months of this year reflect the greatly increased tax charges and show that stockholders of the company and the tax collector came close to splitting even. Total tax payments for the nine months were $62,746,071, while net profits after all deductions, including taxes, were $69,418,070. Directors yesterday declared a dividend of $1 a share on common in addition to the regular quarterly of $1.75 on preferred.

Report of du Pont Corp., largest chemical producer in the country, also shows the impact of heavier taxes. Although sales were at new high levels for each quarter of this year earnings fell below the 1939 levels. For the quarter ending September 30 net was $1.74 a share vs. net of $1.91 a share in the same quarter last year, taxes in the 1940 quarter being $2 a share more than in the 1939 period.

Private capital outlays for plant expansion and new equipment needed in the defense program, according to registrations filed with the SEC accounted for nearly half of the net proceeds from sale of all securities cleared by the Commission during September.

A late break in wheat, which turned reactionary and closed off 1/4, to 1 1/2 cents a bushel, upset the general trend of commodities and the index was off slightly for the day. Cotton was steady and closed unchanged to up two points, with exception of July contract which lost three points. Sugar showed resistance and spot advanced to 2.87 cents a pound, while American Refining advanced price of refined in certain sections to 4.35 cents. A general advance in refined prices in the eastern markets is quite possible. Silk, rubber and coffee were easier. Chairman Sloan of General Motors yesterday told company dealers that for the next two years they might look forward to a "reasonable amount of business—good business in fact," because the synthetic stimulation to business resulting from the national defense program. However, he warned them not to be caught "out on a limb" after that time, because of the adjustments which will have to be made in liquidating this same defense program. He saw hope for a bigger and better economy if Wendell L. Willkie is elected president.

Douglas Aircraft, reporting for the nine months ended September 30, shows sharp gain in earnings. Net was $7,288,335, equal to $12.15 a share on common, with net sales for the period $45,430,274. In the same period last year, with sales of $19,192,538, net was $2,382,159, or $3.97 a share. Of the total 1940 sales to date $6,124,552 went to the government on which there was a profit margin of less than one per cent. The present excess profits tax does not apply to earnings of the company until the beginning of their fiscal year, which is December 1.

Double Rites Held For Tobacco and Pettitt at Lyons

Lyons, N. Y., Oct. 30, (Special).—Dominick Tobacco, 27, 44 Franklin street, and Frank Pettitt, who would have been 27 next month, and who lived next door at No. 46, were buried this morning in Elmwood Cemetery after a requiem high Mass at St. Michael's Church with the Rev. John W. Keefe officiating. Double committal rites were conducted at the cemetery by Father Keefe.

Tobacco and Pettitt were killed early Monday morning near Kingston when their sauerkraut-laden truck, bound from Newark, N. Y., to the U. S. Army depot in New York city, collided with a northbound car and burned, trapping the pair in the cab. Tobacco leaves two small orphaned children, Nancy Ann and Connie Tobacco, whose mother died last spring, and his mother, Mrs. Mary Tobacco, Lyons. Pettitt is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ignazio Pettitt; four brothers, Anthony, John, Michael and Samuel Pettitt, and four sisters, Margaret, Helen, Pauline and Patricia Pettitt, all of this village.

Three Arraigned After Still Raid Near Shawangunk

Three Brooklyn residents, charged with unlawfully possessing and operating a 425 gallon alcohol still, were arraigned Tuesday afternoon before U. S. Commissioner Charles de la Vergne of Kingston.

They are James Joseph Nardi, 40, his wife Rose Nardi, and Michael Scribble, and all were held for appearance before the Federal grand jury, bail being placed at $2,500 for Scibella, $1,000 for Nardi and $500 for Mrs. Nardi. In default of the bail they were committed to the Ulster county jail.

The arrests followed a raid on the Tamli Farm, one of the Wallkill-Sylvan road town of Shawangunk, by agents from the alcohol control bureau in Newburgh, who in addition to the still reported that they seized 8,900 gallons of mash.

Hearings to Begin On Wire-Tapping Of U. S. Justices

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Counsel for a Senate subcommittee investigating wire-tapping said today that hearings would be started in Washington Friday to determine whether the wires of United States supreme court justices were tapped when an important decision was pending.

William Power Maloney, the counsel, mentioned October, 1938, at the time of the reported tapping but he did not specify the case in which a decision was expected. The hearings, held by a subcommittee of the Senate Interstate Commerce committee, will take place in the Senate office building. Former U. S. Attorney George Z. Medalie, who is not in any way involved in acts complained of, investigators said, will be heard by the subcommittee. He has not been subpoenaed. Maloney appeared today before Federal Judge Murray Hulbert, as did Hyman J. Fischbach, counsel for Robert C. La Follette, head of investigators, technical service, and for James Elliott and Edmund O'Connor, formerly employed by the New York Telephone Company. Maloney told the court that La Follette, who was subpoenaed two weeks ago, already has appeared before him in Washington.

THE ROAD TO SHANI LUN

By Rita Moller Hanson

YESTERDAY: Lynn Britton has just been "rescued" from the mounted band of Temu. She has been conducting Lynn across the Mongolian plain to a marriage with the Prince of Shani Lun, and partly because she distrusts Dick, and partly because she loves Temu, Lynn is half inclined to believe that she would be better off in Temu's hands—Prince or no Prince.

Chapter 30

Sherlock Again

DICK sat down on a box beside the head of Lynn's palat. "As I wrote you I managed to slip into Delun and interview the Prince last year. I'd been running arms across the desert then, but I went to him seeking commercial concessions—had some idea of becoming respectable, I suppose."

He paused and looked at her. "But I couldn't interest the Prince in anything—except you." He laughed mirthlessly and bent forward, hanging his hands between his knees. "And was he crazy for you, Lynn, and extremely honorable about it, he thought. We drew up a marriage settlement contract in legal style, the European way, as if I, as head of the family, had the right to dispose of your hand."

"I explained that I needed a little cash, I always seem to be needing a little cash, and he gave me my share of the settlement in advance. I had told him that occasionally the great families of America arrange the marriages of the daughters as the French do."

Lynn lay back and laced her trembling fingers behind her head while he stood and looked at her for a minute. "But, kid, I never intended to let him marry you—or if he did marry you, to keep you."

Her lips barely moved. "How kind!"

He began his pacing again. "The first plan was for Sherlock and me to bring you to Watch Tower Wells where the Prince would meet you by airplane. Sachtu would ambush the camp that night, and with the Prince dead we'd have things our own way. But Temu spoiled that by appearing in Pai Shu."

Lynn fought for composure before she asked, "Isn't the Prince aware of all this?"

Dick shrugged and lit a cigarette. "I don't know. He and Sherlock seem to have some means of communication like—well like mental telepathy. They have certain powers developed that we Westerners don't know anything about, but when their time comes they die like the rest of us. Perhaps by now the Prince knows we have captured the old boy though it won't do him any good."

"Why? Is the Prince already your prisoner?"

"We've got him where we can put our hands on him."

"Then is Temu the only one you have to fear now? Would he be powerful enough to keep the Duke of Sachtu from seizing power?"

The Wise Man
"MAYBE—if he were inside the country instead of out. In the morning you'll meet the Duke along with Chin Pak, one of Temu's men who has deserted to us. Now your tent should be ready." He stood up and she rose and followed him out.

The next morning Lynn met the Duke of Sachtu, a thin, young Mongol with a weak chin and sad, childlike eyes that were going blind. He bowed in reverence to the Goddess Tara. She soon observed that he was superstitiously afraid of the captive priest, Sherlock Fuyeh, who sat on a rug in his open tent with a Chinese guard nearby.

Lynn went to the monk and sat down at his side. The bindings on his ankles and wrists, she saw, were not severe.

"Are you angry at me—us, Sherlock?" she asked.

He turned and looked at her, a twinkle threatening to sparkle in his wise, old eyes. "Things work themselves out," he said.

"I'll do my best to see that no physical harm comes to you," she promised, and asked with a smile, "Aren't you a little bit sorry now that you made me a goddess?"

He looked away towards the purple horizon. "You were born a goddess, my dear, I had nothing to do with it."

"Then if we should lose our cause, you will not unmake me?" she teased gently.

"You personally will not lose, my dear. And you will not harm my people, your people. Destiny is with you."

"Perhaps with me," she agreed.

"but not with your Prince. From what I see and hear, while men don't stand up very well under the circumstances of life here in Asia."

"Certain white men," Sherlock admitted.

"Dick tells me that your Prince is a weak man sunk in vice and crime."

"He studied her face shrewdly. 'But you have refrained from telling him that the Prince is a man of your own race. Why?'"

"What would be gained? It is your secret and Temu's and the Prince's." She shook her head wonderingly. "I don't understand. Your country possesses strong, native men, yet you struggle and fight to keep a man like this missionary's son on the throne. She resolved to sound him out. 'Sherlock, I might be interested in seeing a man like Temu Darin as ruler of Shani Lun.'"

He smiled slightly. "I see you're a strong-headed girl, but then we need strong heads in this world. The Prince was brought through and reflection. Some day you will comprehend that a higher power makes the plan and you and I and Temu Darin follow the design."

"You're a fatalist," she said and left him. The men were breaking camp.

A camel-puller brought her the same animal she had ridden from Palichao to Watch Tower Wells. Presently Lynn noticed with a little feeling of compunction that Temu's beloved black bactrian had also been taken in the raid on the camp at Watch Tower Wells.

Though at the low ebb of his vitality, due to the moulting season, the animal was acting ugly, grinding his teeth and rolling his eyes and refusing to obey the young Buriat trying to subdue and mount him.

Desert Tragedy
SUDDENLY the beast lashed out; the man went down, his face crushed and chest caved in. Companions rushed to save him, but too late. Already flesh and blood mingled with the mud of the desert.

The animal, as if sensing that he had completed his task, broke wildly through the men and fled across the desert. The men stood strangely silent.

Dick was cursing wildly but the Mongols accepted the tragedy apathetically. "We did wrong to steal him from Temu Darin," they said. "The devil spirit of a man resides in his personal camel and if that master be a strong man, an enemy, unless he be stronger, can mount the beast."

Lynn rode that day with a sense of deep depression. They were skirting a high mountain range that separated them from the border region of Shani Lun. It was a particularly desolate strip of country as if, at some time in the past, cruel and inhuman deeds had been committed along this ancient, pilgrim road and the spirit of murder and madness still lingered to haunt the men who passed.

Sherlock rode a little detached from the rest near the head of the column. The Duke of Sachtu rode dejectedly at the rear. Between them the men were particularly quarrelsome. Once Dick was compelled to take his whip to a pair on horseback who were flashing knives at each other. Lynn urged her animal forward to the side of Chin Pak who rode a tall, rangy mule.

"So you deserted Temu Darin?" she said. His eyes shifted, then he spoke.

"Yes, Missie."

"He trusted you?"

Chin Pak dropped his head. "I loyal to the Tara."

She eyed him sharply. "You mean that, Chin Pak? You're loyal to me?"

"Yes, Missie."

She lowered her voice. "Loyal to me above my brother?"

"Yes, Missie. He say I come with him I serve the Tara."

Lynn's pulses quickened; evidently she had found a friend. She was beginning to see into the psychology of these people, and she did have power among them if only she could use it wisely.

At sunset they came into a different type of country and made camp at the base of a steep, red mountain, where a spring gushed out and watered a grove of false phoenix trees. The men shouted and sang at their work like children on a holiday, a complete reversal of the feeling of the day.

Then Sherlock made his announcement. "My time has come. I shall die tonight," he said.

Lynn's first impulse was to laugh. As if a man could die by simply making up his mind to do so. But the sudden look of apprehension that came into Dick's eyes when he received the message sobered her.

"Such a thing is impossible!" she cried.

"Oh, no it isn't. Not among primitive people. If Sherlock chooses to die, he can surely do it."

"I wouldn't call Sherlock primitive. He's more highly civilized than any man I know."

"He possesses the personal powers of aboriginal people. But, if he thinks he can force me into a compromise, he's badly fooled. I still have you to represent the gods and if he compels us to, we'll carry his body to Delun in state and collect tribute all along the way. I have this thing cinched. I'm going through with it; nothing can stop me. Go tell him what I said."

America's Prayer

Our God, it is to Thee, Ruler of Destiny,

To Thee we pray: Bless this, our freedom's land, Protect our sea and strand, Hold over us Thy hand,

Each, every day. Hear this, our prayer, Lord, Grant peace to restless world, To mankind love,

Destroy all hate and greed, Make us Thy wishes heed, Thy help we always need,

Great God above. Be Thou our Chief of State, In Thee we have our faith,

Heavenly King. Let mortal tongues awake, Let all that breathe partake, Let rocks their silence break, Thy praise to sing,

G. Lagercrantz. Bride—When you married me, I thought you were daring and courageous.

Groom—That's nothing. Name the person who didn't. Our friends are having troubles too, perhaps we cannot help them a great deal, but we can try not to make their difficulties worse by loading our own troubles onto them.

Teacher—What inspired the old-time pioneers to set forth in their covered wagons? Student—Well, maybe they didn't want to wait for about 30 years for a train.

There are few troubles which cannot be lessened by a sense of humor or a sense of perspective.

Arctic Explorer—It was so cold where we were that the candle light froze and we couldn't blow it out.

Rival Explorer—That's nothing. Where we were words came out of our mouths in pieces of ice and we had to fry them to see what we were talking about.

Less Dinner—Thinner: Some men would look more spic if they didn't have so much spic.

During the first evening of a visit to her daughter at Sea Point an elderly woman who had never seen the sea before was found intently watching the nearby lighthouse.

Old Woman (noticing that she was no longer alone)—What infinite patience sailors have.

Daughter—Why? Old Woman—Well, the wind has blown that light out 38 times since I've been watching and each time they relighted it.

It is safer to learn from your enemies than it is to instruct your friends.

To impress on his pupils the need of thinking before speaking, the master told them to count fifty before saying anything important. Next day, he was speaking, standing with his back to the fire, when he noticed several lip movements rapidly. Suddenly the whole class shouted in unison:

"...Forty-eight, Forty-nine, Fifty! Your coat's on fire, sir!"

Many things which should work out smoothly will not do so unless somebody supervises the working.

Ross—How many of your girl friends are in on our little secret? Ruby—Six, all told. Ross—They would.

Another new troop is added to the rolls of the Ulster-Greene Council and is to be known as Troop No. 69 sponsored by the Wittenberg School District No. 4 of the town of Woodstock. This troop will be a member of the Western District. The troop committee is as follows: Chairman, J. Augustus Shults; Nelson Shults and Floyd Stone. The scoutmaster is Henry M. Lubin. The charter members are: Leslie Shults, Ebert Bonestell, Eugene Shults, Werner Hegner and Raymond Knight. These boys will be installed officially as scouts on November 18 by the members of the Western District. This brings the Ulster-Greene Council up to 52 Troops and 1,055 scouts with prospects of a steady increase so the objective of 1,070 by December 31, 1940.

Adelaide, Australia—A proposal that gold mines should work seven days a week as a contribution to Australia's war effort is being considered by directors of mining companies. The suggestion has been submitted to the Federal Treasurer as a means of increasing the amount of gold available for export. Experience in Australian industrial plants has shown that a seven-day week has increased the output by 15 or 20 per cent.

Disease-Resistant BeesDeveloped by Scientists

Research experts hold out hope that they may be able to combat American foulbrood—a disease of bees which annually is highly expensive to the nation's $50,000,000 honey industry.

Strains of bees have been developed which are said to be highly resistant to the disease.

The new strains were developed by the Iowa Agricultural experiment station at Ames in co-operation with stations in Wisconsin, Texas, Wyoming and Arkansas and the United States bureau of entomology.

Distribution of certified resistant queens to commercial queen breeders, who will supply daughter queens to honey producers, is the tentative plan.

None of the co-operating agencies will sell disease-resistant bees, officials said.

The bee-breeding experiment which produced the new strains is said to be significant because in only a few instances have scientists been able successfully to breed for disease resistance in animal or insect life.

Exiled French Author Writes for His SupperBy JOHN SELBY

Associated Press Arts Editor
New York—It's nothing new these war days for well known and once-wealthy authors to land in America broke. Andre Maurois claims no distinction on that account, although he's gone broke twice this year. This is how it happened—

Maurois, a French army officer as well as one of the great writers of modern France, has been used many times as a go-between for his native country and England. He was in England when France fell.

"I took no money with me, because all I needed to do was ask our ambassador for it," he explained from the midst of a huge chair in a very luxurious apartment high in one of our better hotels.

'Only My Uniform'

"Then quite suddenly, the ambassador had no money. Nor did I. And no clothes, even—only my uniform."

"So I set to work writing at once, and made £300. Then it became necessary for me to leave for America, and I could take only £10 with me. I came over with a shipload of children, and took care of one of them, and it was fun."

"But I landed in New York dead broke, as you say. Not a sou."

This was as nothing to M. Maurois, however. He went to the Plaza without hesitation.

"And because it was July, most of my friends were out of town—and anyway, one does not like to ask for money. So I ate at Childs and the Automat, and learned a great deal. I liked those places very much, because people always sat down with me, and I overheard enough to make a novel. Two novels.

Better Than in Paris

"Also I learned that one can eat adequately in New York, with good, solid food, for less than a dollar a day. If you must eat cheaply, you can live better in New York than in Paris."

But going to the Plaza seemed incongruous, until it was explained.

"It was so simple," says Maurois. "If I had gone to a hotel I could afford, they would have wanted money right away. But I had gone many times to the Plaza and I knew they would not present a bill before the end of the month. By then I had worked and I could pay."

This is YOUR AMERICA!

Even in normal times the President of the United States has a great deal of power. In times of crisis this power is normally increased. But throughout the course of America's history, no American President, even in times of war, has forgotten that America belongs to the people. No American President until Roosevelt has taken arbitrary and automatic powers unto himself, and refused even to let the American people know what he is doing.

This, more than anything else, is the great shame of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In the event of war, it is you, the American people, who will have to fight it. It is you who will lose sons, brothers, husbands and fathers.

Yet as the world crisis developed, Roosevelt kept his information from the American people. He knew how strong Germany was, how weak France was. When Germany marched into Dunkirk and drove the British out, President Roosevelt knew what dangers were mounting. But he told Congress to go home. Congress didn't; but stayed in session to protect your America.

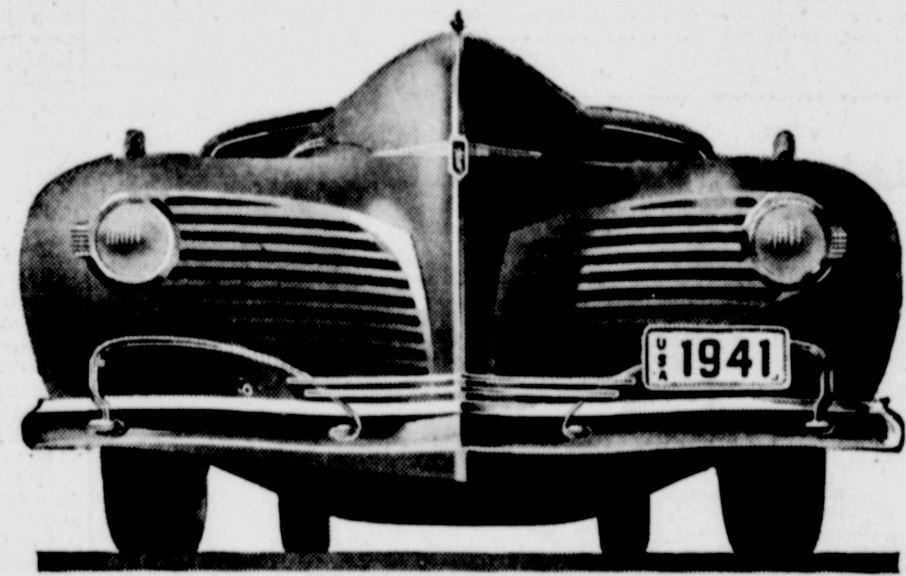

With the Germans at the Marne and Italy in the war, and the crisis mounting steadily, the President again told Congress to go home and let him handle things secretly his own way. But Congress stayed in session to defend your America.

Above all things, Franklin Roosevelt wants to be the indispensable man. There is no room for an indispensable man in your America. There is no place for a third term, for dictatorship, for arbitrary regimentation of human rights, in your America.

Wendell Willkie is your safeguard. You owe it to America to elect him President of the United States.

ON NOV. 5th VOTE FOR WILLKIEBRUCE BARTON for Senator*MARY DONLON and MESSMORE KENDALL for Congressmen-at-Large*THE MOST IMPORTANT NEW CAR ANNOUNCEMENT DODGE HAS EVER MADE*DODGE presents to America a Great New Car with FLUID-DRIVE

For 26 years, the public faith in the Dodge printed word has been a valued Dodge asset. Dodge has found it sound policy to make the performance of its cars exceed its promises in print.

The enthusiastic adjectives used in this advertisement represent no departure from this policy. They are used because the facts demand them.

This IS the most important new car announcement Dodge has ever made. This IS the story of the greatest car Dodge has ever built. To say less would be to slight the full and simple truth.

H. J. Opel
President
DODGE BROTHERS CORPORATION

THE GREAT NEW DODGE for 1941 is longer, lower, roomier. It is completely re-designed; beautiful and distinguished in its sweeping new lines. It reflects what smart Americans call "good taste."

These things your eyes will tell you. But you'll need to "feel" as well as "see," to get the full thrill of the new Dodge Fluid-Drive.

Only by taking the wheel, on the road, can you experience the miracle of this new and wholly effortless way of driving.

Dodge Fluid-Drive frees you from the nuisance of gear-shifting and clutch-coddling. A touch of your toe on the accelerator or the brake becomes the complete driving operation. You use your hands merely to steer.

DODGE FLUID-DRIVE lets you start off in high and accelerate to top speed without shifting gears. It lets you slow down to one mile an hour... then move quickly through traffic without shifting. Halt at a stop light, then glide ahead without shifting or declutching.

You can climb hills at one to five miles an hour in high, come to a dead stop on the hill, then start up again... still in high. You can creep through heavy sand, dig out of rutted roads, plough through snow...all without declutching or shifting gears. And without stalling the engine!

Like many truly great things, Dodge Fluid-Drive is simplicity itself in design and operation. There's nothing new to learn. You simply cut out two old and irksome driving motions... gear-shifting and declutching.

And when you want extra-fast getaway, Dodge Fluid-Drive gives you an EXTRA surge of power at a flip of a finger, in "second"!

IT IS OFTEN SAID that Dodge is one of America's most economical cars, in its consumption of gas and oil.

Now comes Dodge Fluid-Drive teaming up with Floating Power (which banishes engine vibration) to give you a new standard of silken engine performance. An oil-like smoothness that makes you forget that old mooted argument about the number of cylinders.

Now for the first time, you get the remarkable economy for which Dodge has always been famous, plus a new velvet-smooth flow of power that puts to shame many an engine with more cylinders.

THE 1941 DODGE was conceived in the industry's newest and best-equipped engineering laboratories. It is the result of years of testing and re-testing. Even such a factor as the type of rubber used in Dodge was specified as a result of research by our engineers.

And there are no less than half a hundred other new improvements in Dodge for 1941 that came from the minds of these same metallurgists, physicists and chemists.

We're tempted to tell you about all of these exciting innovations. But you'll get the thrill of them best if you go to see the car...and discover for yourself its vast wealth of new comforts, new conveniences, new luxury features.

A TRIP TO THE DODGE SHOW-ROOM will confirm every word of this message. A ride behind the wheel will supply an experience no words can convey.

No matter how much MORE, or how much LESS, you expect to pay for a car this year...by all means look at the big new...great new...dependable Dodge. Ride in it and experience the thrill of Fluid-Drive for yourself. Ask your dealer for a free book that gives you the inside story of the car.

Once you take the wheel of a 1941 Dodge with Fluid-Drive, we believe you won't be content until you own it!

Stamps

IN THE NEWS

By the AP Feature Service

Australia's defense stamps have arrived in a set of four.

Today Australia's navy (most of it) is in the Mediterranean. Much of her army is in the Near East. At home Australians are busy building new factories to supply war products for Great Britain.

The Philatelic Journal of Great Britain calls these stamps, "Australian War Effort Commemorative." The new set of four has a total value of one Australian shilling. There's a brown six-penny, a carmine two-penny, a bright green one-penny, and a blue three-penny. The design includes three uniformed men with the background showing the head of a Red Cross nurse. Buildings on the right and trees on the left complete the picture.

The inscription is simple: "Australia 1940 postage." Argentina is making some changes in cancellations and first-day issues that will make acquisition of stamps easier for collectors.

Next stamp expected from the Latin-American country will honor her sixth president, Julio Argentino Roca. The stamp, a five-centavo, probably will appear in November. It will show the president in armor on horseback.

New air mails soon to come from Argentina will be the first new issues for about five years. The Cook Island 1½ pence violet and black has appeared as an addition to a series already out but with a 3 pence surcharge.

The Haydon planetarium arranged an interesting exhibit of stamps dealing with astronomical subjects for October showing. The group includes 11 rocket stamps from England, Australia, India and other countries.

In commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of the Swedish sculptor, Johan Tobias Sergel, Sweden has issued two postage stamps—a 15-ore brown and a 50-ore gray.

Latest commemoratives of the anniversary of the first adhesive postage stamp are from Estonia. The four stamps show the same design of a carrier pigeon and plane. Values are 3-cent orange, 10-s purple, 15-s reddish brown and 30-s blue.

The United States post office department has issued a photograph of a new three-cent stamp to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the slavery abolition amendment to the Constitution.

First-day sales will be at the New York World's Fair. The initial printing will include 40,000,000 stamps.

Self-addressed envelopes should be forwarded to the Postmaster, Flushing, New York, by collectors wanting first-day covers.

Miss Hilda Smith, R. N., of Newburgh, spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Smith.

A number of local people attended the wedding of Miss Lillian Solbjor and Frank Miller in the Modena Methodist Church Saturday evening, October 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Paltridge and guest, Mr. Hendricks, motored to Bloomingburg Thursday.

Mrs. Ira Hyatt, Mrs. John A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Paltridge and Mrs. Roy Jensen were among local people who attended the church fair and turkey supper in Hasbrouck Memorial Hall Thursday evening.

Emmett Hyatt of Mamaroneck was a week-end guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hyatt, and attended the Solbjor-Miller wedding at Modena Church Saturday evening.

Mrs. Ross Brown and daughter, Miss Laura Brown, were in Kingston recently.

There will be a chicken supper followed by a dance in the Plattekill Grange Hall November 6. Supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock.

READ what JAMES TRUSLOW ADAMS says against a THIRD TERM FOR ANY PRESIDENT

I am utterly opposed to a third term, not simply now but for any President whatsoever. This is not because of the beliefs of the Founding Fathers, although they were probably the wisest group of statesmen ever assembled here. Times change and we ourselves are now Founding Fathers for the future.

Times change, as I said. The original Founding Fathers, in a hastily drawn clause in the last few days of the Constitutional Convention—trying to limit both the powers and the method of election of a President—never conceived that some day he would have billions of money at his disposal; that he would have powers undreamed of and yet demand more and more while relinquishing none; that he would try to control both Congress and the Supreme Court; that there would be a million Federal employees and many more millions of voters receiving money from the government and the President's appointees. Yet these things have come to pass. They are here today.

And now for the first time in a hundred and fifty years a President asks for twelve years of office on the ground of his indispensability and of a crisis. The evident egotism is enough to give us the measure of his self-opinion and political desires. What has happened to America—AND WHY—if out of a population of 130,000,000 only one man can lead us?

Again, in this fast-changing world it can always be said that there is a crisis. In four years, if this war is over, however it may end, there will probably be a crisis, social and economic, of the first magnitude. So, if a President on that ground now demands twelve years in office and more powers, why not, in 1944, sixteen years and yet more powers, or for life with all powers?

If this is allowed there is no more American Dream, no more America. Now, and now only, is the time when possibly America can be saved by defeating the third term and the trend to government by one man and his satellites. Make a mistake. Practically all Europe, except Britain, has set the pattern and we have been following it step by step. The only chance left to save our way of life and the liberties of ourselves and our children and children's children is to vote against the permanent retention of office by any President by whatever name. The clock strikes for America, for its freedom and its Bill of Rights, as you cast your ballots on Election Day. God Bless America.

READ what NORMAN VINCENT PEALE, D. D. says in an open LETTER TO THE CLERGY

I am presuming to write to you and to my brethren of the ministry only because the subject at hand is of such grave importance. As ministers of the church we are vitally concerned with the present decision regarding the maintenance of the ancient third-term principle.

Religion gave birth to democracy and religion depends upon democracy for its strength in the future. The church has always been the cradle and citadel of democracy.

Now we face a threat to American Democracy. No man has ever before attempted to perpetuate himself and a vast political machine in power by seeking a third term. Bars are being let down, forces are being set in motion which can result in dictatorship.

An American dictatorship would probably be more subtle and less crude than elsewhere, but none the less totalitarian. The technique is always the same. Five thousand years of recorded history reveal the method. Well intentioned at first, benevolent in appearance and perhaps in purpose, it inevitably results in the loss of the people's liberties.

Freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, freedom of worship, these cannot be tolerated by dictatorships, for their exercise would undermine their power. It is obvious why dictators cancel them. Regimented business, regimented labor, destroyed labor unions, regimented farming, dependence upon vast cynical city political machines in the name of idealism, all of these are in the picture of a developing American-style dictatorship.

When a President after eight years can impose his will upon a bewildered and fundamentally unwilling party once famed for its freedom of thought, it is in essence a dictatorship, rationalize it as we will.

We are not approaching this matter as partisans. Ministers ought not to engage in partisan politics, most of us believe. Nor is this an issue regarding the Executive as a man who many ministers personally admire. We are dealing with a principle involving something far more fundamental than partisanship. The question is, "Shall we lower the bars and permit a venture that can lead this nation in the future, under unknown personalities who may be motivated not by our traditions of freedom but by the cynicism of power, to the abrogation of democratic and religious institutions?"

I personally feel this so strongly that I would not vote for my own brother for a third term. No man or men have immunity to the corrosion of power upon their souls. No man or men should take a stand against a basic tradition of our democracy.

READ what SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL says about a THIRD TERM

The third-term tradition is part of the armor of Freedom. It is a restraint against the abuse of power... as such it finds many forms, written or unwritten. Free men have always sought means to prevent political machines from perpetuating themselves in office.

The chief value of constitutions, written or unwritten, aside from prescribing the jurisdiction of various officers, and so preventing conflict and chaos, is that they place limitations upon power.

Human liberty may be legally defined as a restraint upon governmental power. When it is without restraint, there is no liberty, as witness Germany today.

The anti-third-term tradition is one of those restraints. Washington, Jefferson and Jackson formulated it, but the three or four hundred million Americans who have lived since 1787 have silently ratified it. It is like the common law. In not less than 34 states it is expressly written in their constitutions.

If there is any section of the country that has the obligation of history and party loyalty to oppose a third-term-for-any-President, it is the Southern states. Although most of the states of the Union have constitutional provisions limiting the tenure in office of their chief executives, this principle was extended to the presidency itself by the Constitution of the Confederate States. They made it impossible, even in wartime, for President Jefferson Davis, or anyone else, to fasten himself upon the sovereign nation they were attempting to create. They intended to make it impossible for any man to obtain an unbreakable grip upon government.

It is not strange, therefore, that the Democrats of the South are especially concerned at the threatened violation of what they have always considered an important principle of free government.

Not only is there this historical background but it is also the truth that the principle has been urged more powerfully by the Democrats than by Republicans. No two men did more to establish it as the unwritten law of the whole country than the two greatest names in the Democratic Party, Jefferson and Jackson, both of whom had two terms and could easily have had a third. Both of them repeatedly urged that the principle be expressly written into the Federal Constitution.

For a hundred and fifty years it has been the Democratic Party which has made the chief fight against building up too great power in the central government. As a party, it was the first to declare in its platform of 1896 that it is the "unwritten law of this Republic that no man should be eligible for a third term of the Presidential office." This principle was again asserted in the platform of 1912.

NEVER IN YOUR LIFETIME has your RIGHT to vote been so important to YOU. Never before in the history of this Nation has the citizens' freedom of choice been so imperiled as it is today. Elections are a farce in dictatorships. Germans, Italians and Russians have only one man to vote for. We have not reached that stage—yet.

But that stage is nearer than some of us think. Look at the Time-Table of Dictatorship at the left. Check each step. See how far we have already traveled down the road. See how little there is left to go. What are YOU going to do about it?

The first thing to be done is to close that road—NOW! Our fathers thought they closed it when, realizing that the Constitution did not specifically forbid a third term, they set up a no-third-term tradition. They could not foresee the vast powers that any President now holds. The power to use the executive political machine to keep himself in office three times—five times—or for life. If the no-third-term tradition goes by the board, the people's freedom to choose their own government is gone. Only the no-third-term tradition stands between you and that menace today.

The principle of no-third-term-for-any-President is not a mossback tradition. Thirty-four states limit the tenure of their executives. So should the United States—and block the final step to permanent one-man rule.

The American people must amend the Constitution so that it forbids—definitely and finally—more than two consecutive terms (or more than one six-year term). Otherwise—sometime, if not now—the last protection against the Man on Horseback will be gone.

TAKE THESE 5 STEPS TO PRESERVE YOUR FREEDOM

1 MAKE your loyalty to your country and its form of government—in this critical year—a positive, affirmative force. The men who made it risked their lives and their property in the cause of free government. Is it not worth a few hours of your time and sacrifice of some of your earnings to save what they made? Go into action!

2 READ this page to your family, your friends and associates. Telephone ten friends! Urge them each to call ten more. Get ten or more copies of this page for your neighbors and members of your union and your church. Make yourself a committee of one to get as many citizens as possible to discuss the Third-Term issue. Have them read what James Truslow Adams, Rev. Norman Vincent Peale and Samuel B. Pettengill say on this page against a Third Term for any President.

3 ASK your party's candidates for the Senate and Congress to vote for a constitutional amendment that shall remove the Third-Term danger forever. Andrew Johnson urged Congress on two occasions to pass such an amendment which Andrew Jackson had sponsored.

4 DO your full duty as an American citizen on Election Day. Arouse others to do likewise. Your own precious heritage of freedom and that of your children is at stake. Act while there is still time.

5 HELP to carry on the fight now and to work for a Constitutional Amendment to end the Third-Term menace forever as soon as Congress convenes in January. Unless this is a people's fight, it is lost. The growing nationwide response to the constitutional issue of no-third-term-for-any-President shows that the fight can be won. Send $1, $2, $3, $5, $10, $25 or MORE—as much more as you can possibly afford! Only with your support can this message reach millions more! Make checks payable to Sumner Gerard, Treasurer, and mail today to the National Committee to Uphold Constitutional Government, 205 East 42nd Street, New York City.

Lowell Club Continues Study

Lowell Club continued its study of the Bible at the meeting Tuesday afternoon held at the home of Mrs. Wesley D. Hale on Broadway. The paper of the afternoon was presented by Mrs. W. D. Delaplane, who discussed "The Exodus and Wanderings of the Hebrews." Readings of "The Song of Moses" and "The Song of Miriam" were given by Mrs. Oscar Edwards and of "The Burial of Moses" by Mrs. Frederick Snyder. Mrs. Edwards will be hostess to the club at the meeting next week.

Given Birthday Surprise

A pleasant surprise was given Mrs. Ivan DeHoff of Lake Katrine when a group of her friends arrived at her home Tuesday evening in honor of her birthday. Gifts were presented including three birthday cakes, a bouquet of large chrysanthemums, and many personal remembrances. At the close of an enjoyable evening refreshments were served.

Elmora Breithaupt, S. D. Hildebrandt, Jr. Married at Noon

Miss Elmora Annabel Breithaupt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Breithaupt of Phoenixia, was married at noon today at the Phoenixia Methodist Church, to Stephen D. Hildebrandt, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Hildebrandt of 257 Albany avenue, this city. The Rev. W. Stanley Shuker officiated. A reception was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel for members of the families and the bridal party.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Miss Marjorie Louise Breithaupt, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Schwarzwaldner of this city, Mrs. Alberic H. Bellerose, Jr., of Rutland, Vt., and the Misses Ruth and Lois Shurter of Phoenixia. Joseph Herbert of this city was best man. The ushers were Messrs. William Toppert of Montclair, N. J., Edward Hobson of Bound Brook, N. J., Robert L. Breithaupt of Phoenixia, brother of the bride, and James Forbes of Cleveland, O.

The bride wore a gown of ivory faille, en train, and a pearl tiara from which fell a finger tip ivory tulle veil. She carried lilies of the valley and gypsophila with a corsage of white orchids in the center of the bouquet.

The attendants wore gowns of blue faille with basque bodices and full skirts and long sleeves and hats of blue tulle matching the color of the dresses and nose length veils. They carried muffs made of light bronze and yellow flecked button chrysanthemums. The church was decorated with autumn leaves and bronze chrysanthemums. Mrs. Garrett Bennett of Phoenixia was organist and Donald Clark of New York city was soloist. During the ceremony he sang Schubert's "Ave Maria" and Chabrier's "At Dawning." The bride was educated at Kingston High School and Centenary College at Hackettstown, N. J. Mr. Hildebrandt was graduated from Choate Preparatory School and Cornell University. He is a member of Chi Phi fraternity. After a short trip Mr. and Mrs. Hildebrandt will reside in Dearborn, Mich., where the groom is sales engineer for the Bakelite Corp.

Two Y.W. Clubs Have Parties For Halloween on Tuesday

Halloween parties are the main topic of interest at the Y. W. C. A. this week as annual parties are being held by the various organizations. The first of these occurred Tuesday when 175 Girl Reserves and members of the Young Girls in Business and Industry Club held their annual event.

The Y.G.B.I. club members entertained their friends at a party and dance which began at 8:30 o'clock. Miss Waneta Watrous, president of the club, acted as toastmistress and introduced the numbers on the evening's entertainment. Arrangements for the party were made by Miss Cecelia Steinman and Miss Genevieve Monteleone was in charge of the refreshments.

The evening was spent in square dancing with a skit, "The Lamp Went Out," being presented during the height of the evening. Taking part in the skit were the Misses Marjorie Murphy, Elaine McConnell, Elizabeth Dolan, Ruth Harbig, Elizabeth Terry and June Louise Earl. The skit was directed by Miss Helen Cragan.

Guests who added to the evening's entertainment were Leon Lucia and Martin Hall, who sang and played the guitar, and John Blonnelis, who played the violin. Chaperones for the party were Mrs. George Ross, Miss Katherine Millard and Mrs. A. Noble Graham. The group of 175 Girl Reserves held their party between 6:30 and 8:30 and enjoyed an evening of games and skits and a grand march to display the colorful costumes.

Prizes for the costumes were awarded to Patricia Manfro, Margaret Barnes, Mary Dolan, Marjorie Krum, Katherine Whelan and Patricia Martin. Group singing was led by Mrs. Raymond H. Rignall. The program consisted of four skits and several recitations and vocal selections. Recitations were given by Anne Dittmar and Joan Romulus, and Shirley Miller. Rose Nardi, Kathryn North and Dorothy Simmons sang "Playmates." The skits were given by four of the Girl Reserve groups. The first of these was "Clever Horatio" in which the actors were Agnes Thurin, Patricia Martin, Mary Lou Smith, Janet Kelly, Betty Sharpe, Catherine Roche and Margaret Faye.

The second skit was "We Have No Trains Today" presented by Rose Naccarato, Sydel Mones, Mary Leonard, Theresa Dugan, Margaret Dunne, Ruth Wolfersheim, Marion Culjak and Carol Rion.

A playlet, "Does the Ghost Eat Cake?" was given by Mary Dolan, Rosemary Brown, Blanche Glass, Marjorie Hanlon, Marie Williams and Katherine Barten. The last skit was titled, "Better Plan" and was given by Lorraine Terpening, Vivian Soules, Margaret and Anna Barnes, Dorothy and Marie Hofbauer, Franse Sgroi, Anna Jean Doherty, Gwendolyn Atkins, Rose Hart, Leona North and Jacqueline Waples.

The singing of "Thank Your Stars and Stripes" by Doris Palmer, Dolores Miller and Mary Lou Riehl, brought the entertainment to a close.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

EMILY POST HELPS TO SOLVE PROBLEM PRESENTED BY SHORT AND TALL BRIDESMAIDS AND USHERS

Makes Suggestions After Disproving Having the Men and Girls Walk Together

Sometimes it happens that six or eight bridesmaids are of nearly the same height, and that the ushers can at least be divided into matching twos. But sometimes the unmatched heights are such as to cause the bride a much worse than metaphorical "headache." A letter this morning tells me: "Only two of my six bridesmaids are near the same height. The ushers rise in single steps from five feet five to six feet four. And the best man is shorter than the maid of honor. Mother says she thinks it would be almost better to let men and girls walk together. But this sounds all wrong to me, or do you think this could be considered proper?"

A man and girl procession or recessional is really wrong in that it denotes a musical comedy chorus or a multiple wedding or else the grand march at a public ball. I wouldn't think of this if I were you! As a matter of fact, their unmatched height will be overlooked to a great extent by matching clothes. It will really be much less noticeable than you imagine. It will also help to emphasize the height of those who walk on the left, the side on which your father will walk, rather than the right side, which will be your side. The recessional is not so important, since everyone is looking at the bride.

The five-foot-five usher must, of course, lead the procession, the one nearest to him in height on his left. The six-foot-four usher will be on the left side of the third row. Do the same with the bridesmaids. The shortest (or smallest) on the right side of front row. The tallest on left side of third row. The fact that the maid of honor is taller than the best man doesn't matter a bit, since the only time they are in sight of each other is during the ceremony when she stands at the left of the bride, and he stands at the right of the bridegroom. After the ceremony, it is not correct that the best man walk down the aisle with the maid of honor—unless you are having a double wedding and the service was also for them.

A White Jersey Wedding Dress

Dear Mrs. Post: Would you approve of a white jersey wedding dress, or is that too untraditional? Answer: It is not a question of tradition, since its present vogue would counteract that one question, but I can't quite see jersey material with the tulle or lace of a wedding veil. If its texture is very fine, and if it looks well with it—that is the only question to ask.

Be Light and Slim Again With a Low-Calory Diet

Lose 10 Pounds in 5 Weeks
How unyielding and awkward Mrs. Stout feels as she climbs into the bus. She can't understand why she's so heavy when she's such a "small eater."

Mrs. Stout would be amazed to learn that on a low-calory diet she could eat more—and still lose two pounds a week!

For, though Mrs. Stout doesn't eat much, she gains because she chooses only high-calory foods. Chicken pie (400 calories) is one of her pets. Devil's food (400) is a favorite dessert.

Her bulges wouldn't have piled up if she'd favored instead a chicken sandwich (200 calories), angel cake (100 calories).

Only one thing to do—take fewer calories for a while! And, with a guiding calory chart, a satisfying reducing diet may easily be adapted to family meals.

At dinner, take only a half cup of scalloped potatoes (160 calories a cup) but eat freely of spinach (40 a cup), canned tomatoes (50 a cup).

Get your slim, young figure back again! Our 32-page booklet has 42 low-calory menus, recipes for delicious low-calory desserts. Includes calory chart, 3-day liquid diet to start reducing, also menus for gaining.

Italian Claims on Advance Into Greece Are Scouted by Athens

Mackenzie Reports Mountain Terrain Tough on Travel

Metaxas, Who Looks Like Santa. Is Hard-Boiled Military Man Who Knows His Country

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Europe's newly whelped war today appeared from meager advices to continue without great change to struggle its way through the fierce mountain passes into invaded Greece.

Italian claims that they have penetrated 40 miles into the unhappy little country is met by the undaunted counterclaim that the hard-fighting line of Greek killed mountain troops is maintaining its front unbroken. Meanwhile steady streams of defending reinforcements were flowing northward.

However, it would be surprising if there had been any appreciable change in the position so soon. The terrain over which the battle is taking place is terrible.

I have traveled through some of the Greek mountain area at this time of year and can imagine few things more difficult than offensive military operations there. Even ordinary travel is trying enough, to say nothing of fighting and moving heavy equipment through narrow valleys from which the mountains frequently rise so abruptly as to be precipitous. Narrow, rocky roads wind their way precariously up and about their sides.

Metaxas Is Tough
I strongly suspect that the Greek premier, General "Little John" Metaxas, must be having a big hand in directing the defense of his country. The dictator is a soldier of long and varied experience, who showed so much genius as a young man that he was sent to the war academy in Germany to complete his military education. With his roly-poly figure Metaxas looks like Santa Claus—but isn't. He is as hard-boiled as they make 'em, and might be expected to give the invading Fascists a fight.

I saw an excellent example of his direct methods a couple of years ago when I was in Greece. He had herded together 4,000 of his political opponents, including several ex-premiers, and I don't know how many cabinet ministers and interned them on the many little islands off the Greek coast. It is rather an odd circumstance that the British in taking over the isles will find these colonies of exiles.

Occupation Is Vital
Occupation of the strategic islands, by the way, was supposed to be pursued vigorously, although here again the world was being kept without information. The best way to say under the circumstances is that the British fleet hasn't taken over the most important positions, it is mighty slow and unimaginative. Possession of these islands at the mouth of the Aegean, as I remarked yesterday, would go far toward nullifying any advantage the Italians might gain by occupying the islands.

FIRST PICTURE OF ITALIANS IN GREECE

Italian cavalrymen cross the Albanian-Greek frontier in this picture from Italian sources, the first to reach the United States since hostilities broke out between Greece and Italy. Picture was transmitted by radio from Berlin to New York. Diplomatic sources in Rome said Italians had driven 10 miles into Greece toward Florina, on the route to strategic Salonika.

nation of the Greek mainland. Mussolini's possession of Greece doesn't matter so much—considering the battle of the Mediterranean as a whole—so long as England retains control of the sea and the approaches to the Dardanelles which the Axis partners must force before they can get into the Near East.

Communist Chief Stalin continues to play solitaire over the fate of the European conflict.

He holds the balance of power between Hitler and England, and should the weight of Russia be thrown to either side at this critical juncture it might be decisive.

Nothing If Not Practical

But Stalin is nothing if not practical, with a million and a quarter German troops reportedly in the Balkans, and scores of thousands more leaning on their rifles and looking across the Russo-German border in Poland, you really have something for mature reflection. The Muscovites apparently intend to lie doggo until they see a favorable moment for a move—and when they do move it will be in the direction best serving their own interests.

This non-committal attitude of Russia naturally keeps the wraps on Turkey. Should the Turks join Britain, the powerful Turkish army and the British fleet would make a good combination to beat in the Dardanelles.

Hitler reportedly is about to put the screws on Turkey to keep her quiet. Should this result in driving the Turks into Britain's camp it would represent a decided gain for England, as I see it.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, Oct. 30.—The Parent-Teacher Association will hold a food sale Saturday afternoon, November 2, at 2 o'clock at Spinnys Restaurant. Orders may be telephoned to Mrs. J. G. Reynolds, 2479-R. Nurses to Meet

A regular meeting of District 11 of New York State Nurses Association will be held November 1, at 2 p. m. Kingston Hospital. Dr. Frederick Holcomb will be guest speaker.

KRUMVILLE

Krumville, Oct. 29 — Mrs. Charles Nygaard of Brooklyn has been spending the past week at their home here, and is much improved from her recent illness.

Last Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Hover entertained as their dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Colvin of Whitfield.

The Rev. and Mrs. William H. Barringer last Sunday evening visited Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Every at their home in Whitfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis of Orlo Vista, Fla., last Sunday were dinner guests of Mr. Davis's sister, Mrs. Florence N. Christiana and John A. Barringer.

The Rev. William H. Barringer, who has been preaching at the Methodist chapel at Alligerville for the past year, reports that the members will hold a public party and a turkey supper Friday evening of that week for the benefit of that church at the Dreamland Farm near Alligerville.

A Halloween free party will be held at the church parsonage Wednesday evening of this week. The committee in charge besides the pastor and Mrs. Barringer, is Verna Wager, Joan Brock and George Smalley.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Volmer of Kingston spent the day last Sunday at the home of Mr. Volmer's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Volmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Deitrich of Cromwell, Conn., spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. Deitrich's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Christensen. They also visited other relatives and friends here.

There were 20 present at the first fall meeting of the Community Circle held last week at the home of the vice-president, Miss Verna Wager. The next regular meeting will be held November 12 and they are to meet with the secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Florence N. Christiana.

The local district school will be closed this Friday as the teacher, Miss Norma Dee Conklin, expects to be in New York that day attending a teachers' conference.

The church school will meet next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. At the morning divine worship service the Rev. John B. Steketee of Kingston expects to be present with the pastor of the church to bring the message and serve communion.

At the services at the Alligerville Methodist Church next Sunday evening the pastor will preach from the subject, "The Valley of Decision." And the subject for the children's sermon will be "Football."

Mrs. John Davis of Acorn Hill, who has been ill for several weeks, is now well again.

Mrs. Katie Davis last Saturday visited with her children at Olive Bridge.

Special Services

On Friday, November 1, All Saints' Day, there will be two services held in the Church of the Ascension West Park. The first service will be held at 11, and will be a celebration of the Holy Communion and a commemoration of the Faithful Departed. In the evening there will be a service of Evensong and Sermon, and a commemoration of the Faithful Departed, at 8 o'clock.

To Hold Dance

Members of Union Hose Co. 4 will hold a Halloween Dance tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

Rummage Sale

There will be a rummage sale at 660 Broadway, November 7, 8 and 9 for the benefit of the Flatbush Reformed Church. Anyone having articles for the sale, are asked to leave them at Mrs. Doll's store, Mrs. Harold Osterhoudt's or Mrs. Harry France's.

The New York State Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva reports that four promising new varieties of sweet apples have been developed there in recent years.

To Hold Party

The Lake Katrine Parent Teacher Association will hold a Halloween party for the children on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the school house.

I Want You Young Mothers in New York To Know

About this IMPROVED Vicks Way that Relieves Misery of CHEST, COUGHING COLDS

When your child is suffering with a cold, get right after misery... in a hurry... with a "VapoRub Massage." This wonderful treatment—perfected by Vicks staff of Doctors—is a better way to use time-tested Vicks VapoRub and make its valuable poultice-and-vapor action more effective. It's called the "VapoRub Massage" and it's remarkably simple, remarkably quick.

First, you massage Vicks VapoRub for 3 minutes on important rib-area of back as well as throat and chest. Spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with warm cloth. Then let this MORE THOROUGH treatment go to work!

It eases irritation, coughing, muscular tightness or soreness, helps break up local congestion in upper air passages, makes breathing easier... and so relieves the child's misery, relieves you of worry! BE SURE! To get the benefits of this improved Vicks treatment—good for both adults and children—use only genuine, time-tested Vicks VapoRub.

PENETRATES irritated air passages with soothing medicinal vapors, inhaled with every breath. STIMULATES chest and back like a warming, comforting poultice or plaster.

WESTWARD LIES A COURSE OF DEFENSE—Strengthening of American defenses in the Pacific is planned with the departure of the 251st coast artillery regiment of California national guard—an anti-aircraft unit skilled in the handling of guns like these shown at Ventura, Cal. The regiment will sail in a few weeks for Hawaii to reinforce the garrison there.

OH! FOR A DOG'S LIFE THESE DAYS—Far, far away seem war scares when the Rolling Rock hounds take to the field at Ligonier, Pa., under the watchful eye of Huntsman Fred Hedges. The hounds were put through their paces for the benefit of socialites attending the Rolling Rock Hunt meet.

THIS AND FOUR OTHERS—Nine men moving cautiously and swiftly poured 30 tons of molten bronze into a mold that shapes one propeller for the new battleship Washington, now under construction at Philadelphia's navy yard. There will be four such propellers; each will be 17'3" in diameter and weigh 17 tons. The battleship will weigh 35,000 tons.

BACK TO MIDDLE AGES?—To protect his eyes, Britain's 1940 soldier wears a visor that suggests the helmets and suits of mail worn by warriors of darker ages. British sources say this device may help prevent many eye injuries.

STILL COMMANDER—Out of stormy final session of united confederate veterans' 50th reunion in Washington, Gen. Julius Howell (left) of Bristol, Va., emerged as re-elected commander-in-chief. Gen. R. P. Scott of Dallas is congratulating him.

'VOICE'—The vocal cords of Edmund T. Delany (above), 26, N. Y. attorney, have been enlisted in the Willkie cause. Delany's voice, said to sound like F.D.R.'s, is used in a record quoting from Roosevelt speeches of last seven years.

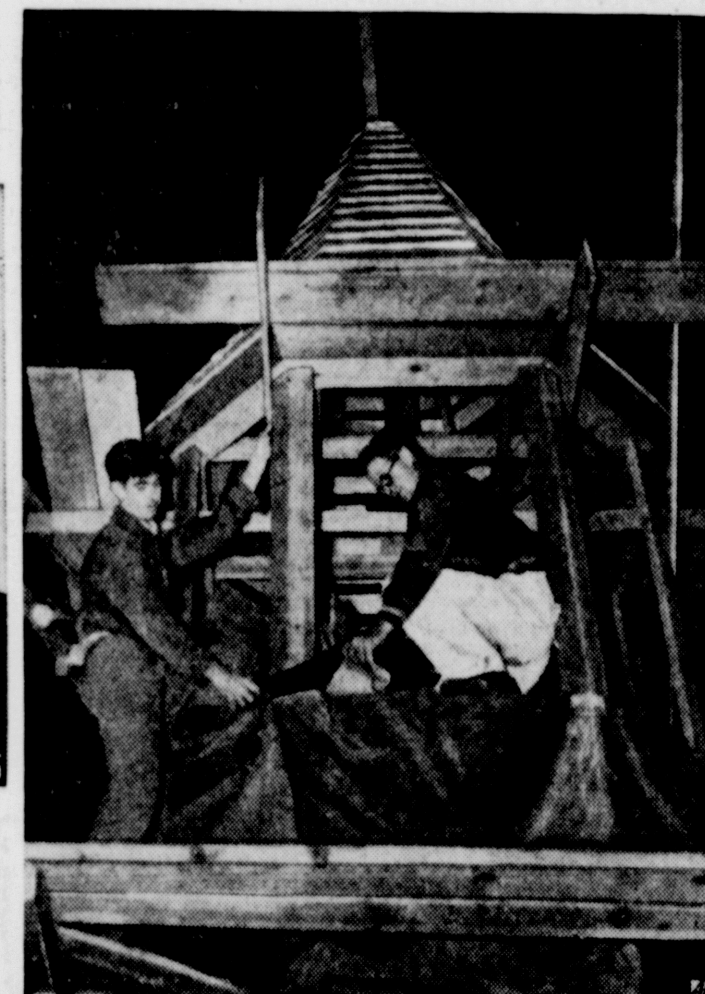

IRATE—Picture of disgust is this of Coach Bernie Bierman at the Minnesota Gophers' camp; when Bernie is vexed about a play he himself puts the ball on scrimmage line.

'A NEW WORLD ORDER'—Historic was this Sept. 27 meeting in Berlin chancellery where a 10-year economic and military pact between Germany, Italy and Japan, and a so-called "new world order" claiming Europe as a sphere for axis powers and Asia as a sphere for Japan, were announced. Left to right: Japanese Ambassador Saturo Kurosu; Ciano of Italy; Hitler of Germany.

MEDIATOR—Dr. H. A. Millis, professor emeritus of economics at Chicago, was named permanent umpire on labor differences between General Motors and United Auto Workers.

WILLING HANDS BUILD A CHURCH—As long on energy as they were short on cash, the congregation of the Missionhill Baptist church in Johnson county, Kansas, pitched in to build a 62x30 feet church topped by above belfry, on which the Rev. L. C. Pennington (right), pastor, and R. Cress labor. About 30 men, working week nights, built tiny $2,000 structure.

DOLLAR MAN—As a $1-a-year government worker, wealthy John Hay Whitney (above) will fit films into a program of developing commercial and cultural relations among the nations of the western hemisphere. Nelson A. Rockefeller heads this program.

UNCLE SAM PLAYS HOST TO SOUTH AMERICANS

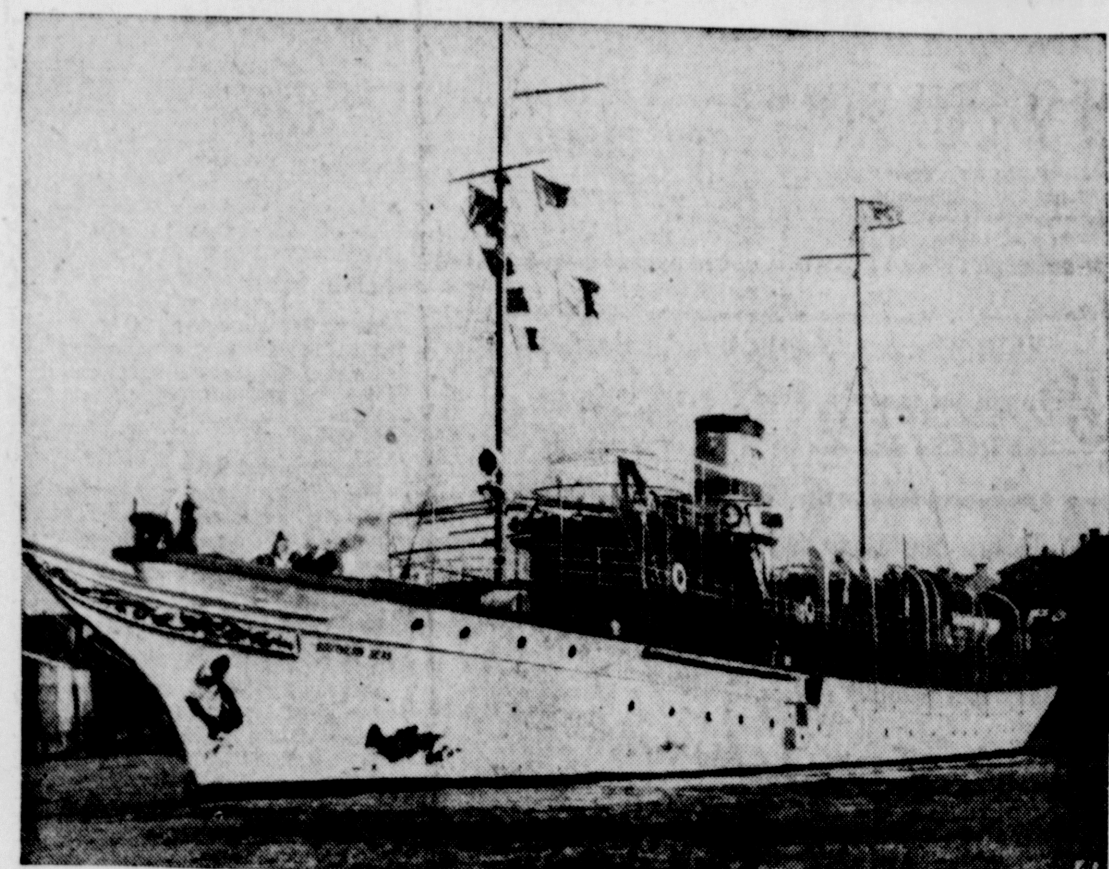

TRANSFER—When Alexander Kirk, charge d'affaires, quits Berlin for trip to U. S., Leland Morris (above), former U. S. consul at Vienna, will handle the U. S. embassy in the German capital.

THEY LIKE U. S. ARMS—To their liking were this car and signal lights being examined at Fort Knox, Ky., by Gen. Luis M. Castaneda (left) of Colombia, and Gen. Felipe Rivera, Bolivian chief of staff. Both visited U. S. defense plants.

AND CHAMPAGNE, TOO!—Toast to the U. S. army and American defenses was drunk at New York dinner given by Niles Trammell (left), radio head, to visiting Latin American officers. Absorbed with his drink is Col. Felipe de La Barra, Peru.

IN SOUTH SEAS SERVICE—Once the property of an American, this yacht, Southern Seas, being overhauled at Sydney, Australia, is to be a floating Pan-American airlines base at Noumea.

HAGUE CALLED BEFORE COMMITTEE

Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, N. J., (right) arrives in Newark, N. J., to testify, under subpoena, at the final pre-election session of a senate subcommittee investigating charges of fraudulent voting in Hudson county, Hague stronghold. Hague, who had declined to appear voluntarily, testified he had always done everything possible "to assure cleanliness in Hudson county politics." With him are his nephew, Frank Hague Eggers (left), the mayor's secretary, and Edward J. O'Hara, counsel (center).

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Whitman have returned to their home in New London, Conn., after spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Luther Garrison.

Mrs. Daniel Froyland will return this week after spending some time with her daughter and son-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs.

Modern Alphabet Linked

To Ancient Copper Mines

Because the Egyptians mined their copper in the Sinai peninsula 4,000 years ago, the poet can put his immortal sonnets into "A B C's" and the schoolboy can learn his letters there, according to Waldo H. Dubberstein of the University of Chicago.

The secret and controlled Egyptian hieroglyphic system of writing was changed to an alphabetic system probably by some local Semitic "wise man" who came into contact with the Egyptians during their work on the peninsula, Dr. Dubberstein, research associate of the Oriental Institute of the university, said recently in a lecture.

"Archaeologists are now able to trace the development of the alphabet, with fair certainty, to its origin shortly after 2000 B. C.," Dr. Dubberstein said.

"From its origin in the Sinai peninsula the new system of writing which needed only some 30 symbols instead of the many hundreds used in hieroglyphic writing understood by only a select few, gradually worked its way up along the coast of Palestine and Syria.

"Eventually it reached the ancient city of Ras-Shamra, where the natives wrote on clay tablets in Babylonian cuneiform characters. They were so accustomed to writing on clay that they maintained that medium, changing only the sets of symbols they had been using.

Both the present-day alphabet and the ancient hieroglyphic systems have a common ancestor in picture-writing, he said.

"Writing," he said, "is a continuous streamlining process. For example, the picture of a man is reduced to a picture showing only his head. By a further step it becomes merely a few strokes which reproduce the sound of the word. Successive generations formalize the strokes into a letter-symbol."

MODENA

Modena, Oct. 30—A splendid attendance was made at the turkey supper and annual fair held Thursday evening in the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall. A pleasing program of entertainment was presented during the evening. Proceeds from the affair will benefit the treasury of the Modena Methodist Church.

Local members of the Plattekill Grange attended the regular meeting held Saturday evening in the Grange Hall, when a program observing Halloween was given. Host and Hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Milton Van Duser, Charles Van Duser, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Dawes, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Edmunds, Sheldon Edmunds, Anna, John, Stanley and Theodore Doski, Mrs. May Rhodes and Fred Loetcher.

Mrs. Edward Hartney and daughter, Joann, were recent callers on Mrs. Wilson Edmunds and sons, Chester and Wilson, Jr., of the Forest road.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Coy, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Ward motored to Port Washington, Long Island, and visited Miss Gladys Coy, recently. Mrs. Frederick Cooke and friend of Poughkeepsie, were visitors of Mrs. Ransel Wager, Thursday.

Mrs. Kenneth Philips and friend Mrs. Davis, of Poughkeepsie, visited Mr. and Mrs. William Decker and family during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Smith of Kingston were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wager and sons, Saturday.

Gustave Frumerie, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Miller and son, Myron, of Malden-on-Hudson, spent the past week-end as guests of Mrs. Anna Miller and attended the Miller-Solbjoer wedding in the Modena Methodist Church Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. DuBois Grimm entertained guests from Albany, at their home, last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Halstead and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Halstead, and Miss Mary Ellen Moshier, of Poughkeepsie, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Hartney, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lanson Rinehart, Margaret and Billy Lewis, of New Paltz, visited in Modena Thursday evening.

Cornell and Eagles Lead Lambert Poll; Hoyas, Rams Next

Carl Snavelly's Gridders Continue in Front of Field; Navy, Penn Tied With 955

By its convincing victory over Ohio State, Cornell moved up again this week in the weekly point standings of the Lambert Trophy Committee. The Red team has now 978 points to Boston College's 970. Georgetown, Fordham and Navy complete the first five.

One of the biggest upsets last Saturday, St. Mary's over Jimmy Crowley's Fordham Rams, blasted the Polo Grounders into fourth place, four points behind the Hoyas. Georgetown continued to march with a triumph over New York University.

Navy took a sharp upswing of six and is now tied with Penn. Each are ranked at 955. Most promoted team of the week is Lafayette, unbeaten, untied and now up 31 points over the October 20 standings to a place among the leaders of the eastern "secondary" group.

In preparing this week's chart, greatest difficulty was encountered in ranking the middle and lesser college teams, which have been engrossed in one of the most topsy-turvy week-to-week feuding in college football history.

Following are the first 25 colleges according to the rating by the Lambert Trophy Committee:

Cornell	978
Boston College	970
Georgetown	965
Fordham	961
Navy	955
Pennsylvania	955
Penn State	954
Villanova	943
Lafayette	942
Duquesne	941
Princeton	936
Pittsburgh	934
Columbia	932
Colgate	928
Temple	925
Syracuse	921
George Washington	914
Fly Cross	911
Johns Hopkins	907
West Virginia	903
Yale	891
New York University	890
Fairleigh Dickinson	884
Harvard	882

Bears Will Meet Green Bay Sunday

Chicago Gridders Hold an Edge in One Game

Chicago, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Chicago Bears and Cardinals, National Football League teams, are going to gang up on the Green Bay Packers Sunday.

The Cards, idle this week, will attend the Packers' pivotal battle with the Bears in a body to scout the pro champions in preparation for their game with Green Bay November 10.

The Bears, fresh from a 37-21 victory over the New York Giants, will be going after their second victory of the season over the air-minded Packers. The ears opened the campaign with a 1-10 decision on Green Bay's own gridiron.

At least three Bears are not expected to see service Sunday. George Musso, veteran guard who has been out two weeks with an injured back, has been ordered to rest another week. Another guard, Dick Hray, suffered a wrenched knee in the New York game and Dick Plasman, brilliant defense end, was injured on the opening kick-off in the same game. Both are expected to be out two weeks.

Harmon Appears Sure of 2nd All-American Berth; Reagan, Christman Follow

Future-Book For ALL-AMERICA

By DILLON GRAHAM
Sports Editor, AP Feature Service

IT'S A long road down the autumn stretch to All-American football ranking but those with hopes of the mythical team rating have jumped away to a fast start. They know that one spectacular performance doesn't bring star billing, that All-America nominations go to fellows who "hit the ball" all season. Here are some who grabbed the early headlines:

TOM HARMON, All-America back last year, got away to the fastest start of any ball-carrier. He bewildered California with four long touchdowns, scored all of Michigan's 21 points against Michigan State and gave the East a show with his brilliance against Harvard.

BILL DE CORREVONT, who bumped into trouble as a highly touted sophomore, has given Northwestern something to cheer about. His play has tabbed him as one of the best.

"Mr. Willkie" Shoots Big Moose

A big stir was created in the Canadian National Railway station in Montreal recently when a moose carcass weighing 2,000 pounds arrived from Peak Lake addressed to "Mr. L. Willkie."

However, investigation proved the hunter came from Rochester, N. Y., and is not related to the American presidential candidate. Peak Lake is in the Lake St. John district of Quebec and has produced many fine specimens of game this season.

The United States Department of the Interior has just published an elaborate pamphlet telling, as far as possible, the number of animals caught for their fur annually in the United States. The figures are accurate as far as it has been possible to make them so.

Jack Crain of Texas Has Chance of Making Team; Kimbrough Rates With Best

By HERB BARKER

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Tight defensive play last week stopped the spectacular football exploits of Jack Crain of Texas, Frank Reagan of Penn. and Paul Christman of Missouri, but nothing short of a concrete wall, it appears, can halt Thomas Dudley Harmon of Michigan.

On the basis of his brilliant play not only against Penn. last Saturday, but through the first month of the season, it is difficult to see how anything less serious than a broken leg could keep the Gary (Ind.) thunderbolt out of the All-America backfield for the second successive year.

Against previously-unbeaten Penn., Harmon scored one touchdown, passed for another, booted 150 yards from scrimmage and added another 50 yards or so on passes, out-kicked the highly-touted Reagan by a wide margin and generally comforted himself like the All-America he is. Against Michigan's fine line play, Reagan never could get started, and even his kicking suffered as he sought desperately to angle the ball away from the ubiquitous Harmon.

Crain Injured

Christman, one of the 1939 season's biggest thrill-providers, had a bad day against Nebraska, perhaps because his favorite receiver, Bob Steuber, was not in the Missouri lineup. Backfield honors in this game went to Harry Hopp of Nebraska. Hopp's better known team-mate, Herman Rohrig, played only long enough to connect with two passes good for 48 yards and a touchdown.

Crain, injured the previous week in the Arkansas game, was thoroughly hobbled as Texas suffered its first defeat, by Rice, 13-0. T. A. Weems, 200-pound sophomore, was the sparkplug for Rice in this upset.

All-America John Kimbrough and blocker Jim Thomason, Texas A. & M. stars, once more paced the Aggies in their hard-won victory over Baylor, featuring a tough line. Kimbrough picked up 91 yards on 30 thrusts, looked good on defense and played 55 minutes. Thomason was in there the full 60.

Norman Strandlee, tough full-back, has been a standout in most of Stanford's games so far, but last week against Southern California, he had to yield the palm to Frankie Albert, Stanford quarterback, a southpaw passer whose faking ability had the Trojans bewildered.

"I had him tied up like a couple of wrestlers," said Al Krueger, star Southern California end, "yet he got the ball away for completed passes."

Dean McAdams, great Washington star, was a 60-minute player against California, whose fullback, Jack McQuarry, also was a standout. Bill Sewell, 24-year-old junior from Washington State and the Pacific Coast Conference's leader in total offense, played brilliantly against Oregon, and Jim Kisselburgh, Oregon State fullback, was a 55-minute performer against U. C. L. A.

PUNTS AND PASSES

(By The Associated Press)

West Point, N. Y.—According to bedsheet banners suspended from windows of cadets' rooms, Army will beat Notre Dame's eleven Saturday, anywhere from 28-0 to "a big score." The banners, traditionally hung in the barracks area before each game with Notre Dame and Navy, made their first appearance yesterday. Another phase of the tradition is that the sheets are "loaned" to the upperclassmen by the plebes, since cadets are accountable for all items of bed clothing.

Newton, Mass.—When Coach Frank Leahy of Boston College chose Frank Mazzini, who saw little service as a sophomore last year, to fill the place of Vito Ananis on the Eagles' varsity, he hoped to find someone who could do "half as well as" vigorous Vito. The records show that in five games Mazzini has scored 56 points, more than Ananis had at the same stage when he led the East in scoring with 73 points for the season. Frank is tops in kicking points after touchdowns, with 14 successes in 18 attempts, and he has made seven touchdowns, although he has carried the ball only 38 times this season.

Palo Alto, Calif.—Perhaps, this is one reason why Stanford's team is rated best on the Pacific coast. The aggregate weight of the 52-man squad is only a few pounds under five tons, and the average is about 190½ pounds. Seventeen of the Indians weigh 200 pounds, or more.

WRESTLING LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

Worcester, Mass.—Lou Brouillard, 188, Worcester, threw Gus Johnson, 205, Minneapolis; Ed Don George, 225, Buffalo, defeated Fritz Schnobell, 215, Chicago, two straight falls.

F. D. R. SPEAKS BEFORE DRAFT LOTTERY BEGINS

This was the scene in Washington as the United States held its first peacetime draft lottery. President Roosevelt is speaking from the rostrum just to the left of the glass container holding 9,000 capsules. Back of the platform is the blackboard in which the numbers were posted as they were drawn. Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson picked the first number—158—a short time after the picture was taken, after which other administration notables participated.

HE DREW NO. 158

Blindfolded, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson dips his hand into the glass container holding 9,000 capsules and draws No. 158 as the first number drawn in the United States' first peacetime lottery in Washington. Behind Stimson is Lieut. Col. Charles R. Morris who adjusted the blindfold. At left waiting to hear the number called is President Roosevelt. In the background is the blackboard on which the numbers were posted.

Y.M.C.A.'s First Report Meeting Held; 21 Joiners

"Juvenile delinquents of today are the criminals of tomorrow" declared Assistant District Attorney Fred Stang, speaking at the first report meeting in the Y. M. C. A. membership drive Tuesday evening at the local "Y". In a partial report the workers in the drive reported 21 new memberships last night.

Allan L. Hanstein, general chairman of the drive, presided at the meeting. Seated with him at the speakers' table was Secretary Robert L. Sisson, Mr. Stang and the Rev. D. Linton Doherty of the Rondout Presbyterian Church.

The workers this year are divided into two divisions with Everett V. K. Schutt and Chester A. Baltz, Jr., in charge of Division No. 1, and Dr. Julian Gifford and Stuart Randall in charge of Division No. 2.

Mr. Stang in his address last night said that one of the big problems in the city today was the number of idle young men, unable to find work. "These youths have plenty of time on their hands," said Mr. Stang, "in fact they have too much time. You know the old saying that the devil finds work for idle hands."

What the youth of the city needed was to be taken off the streets and hanging around street corners and given an opportunity of enjoying clean and healthy recreation in an association like the Y. M. C. A.

The boys who enjoy the various activities of the "Y", he said, are not the type of boys who find their way into juvenile courts.

The Y. M. C. A. offers an opportunity to the youth of the city to build their lives soundly with clean minds in healthy bodies. Chairman Hanstein pointed out that there were a number of boys who would like to become members of the "Y" but lacked funds and he said it would be a generous gesture on the part of some who were unable to use a "Y" membership to sponsor membership for boys who would like and are anxious to become "Y" members. The final reports in the drive will be made Friday evening at a dinner meeting at 6:15 o'clock in the association.

The Time of His Life

Memphis, Tenn. (AP) — Sam Plough, who operates a telephone time bureau, says that September is his busiest month because schools open and parents worry about the correct time. During the first half of 1940 in Memphis, a city of 290,000, Plough's clock-watcher answered 4,526,724 inquiries.
